NEWARK, OHIO, TUESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 12, 1905.

TEN CENTS A WEEK.

MCDONALD IS NOMINATED ON FIRST BALLOT TODAY

Democratic Senatorial Convention Honors New- ark Lawyer at Zanesville.

But Two Names Were Placed Before the Convention, Mason of Muskingum and McDonald of Licking-- Resolutions Indorse Gubernatorial Candidacy of Hon. John M. Pattison.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 12.—B. F. McDonald, attorney-at-law of Newark, was nominated for State Senator in the Democratic convention here this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the first ballot. The vote stood as follows:

B. F. McDONALD.

For McDonald of Licking:—
Delaware	26
Licking	60
Perry	14
Total	100
For Mason of Muskingum:—
Muskingum	55
Perry	14
Total	69
Necessary to choice	85

When the convention was called to order this afternoon the temporary organization, Hon. J. A. Irwin of Muskingum, chairman, J. Howard Jones of Licking and R. M. Small of Perry, secretaries, was made permanent and the convention at once proceeded to business.

The committee on credentials reported no contests and full representation by the four counties in the joint 15-16th Senatorial district comprising Delaware, Licking, Muskingum and Perry counties.

The committee on resolutions reported an enthusiastic endorsement of Hon. J. M. Pattison for Governor and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

At 1:45 this afternoon nominations were called for. Delaware had no candidate but when Licking county was called Attorney Roderick J. Jones of Newark, in a happy and well timed speech placed in nomination B. F. McDonald, one of the brightest and most energetic men at the Licking county bar. Mr. Jones' speech made a hit.

When Muskingum was called, Attorney Eugene F. O'Neal of Zanesville, formerly of Granville, presented the name of William Mason of Muskingum. Mr. O'Neal's address was right to the point and he made an earnest plea for Muskingum's candidate. Perry county had no candidate and upon the first ballot Mr. McDonald received 100 votes, or 15 more than was necessary to nominate, and was formally declared the nominee. The nomination was made unanimous upon motion of Muskingum county.

The Democratic candidate for Senator has for several years practiced law in Newark. Prior to that he lived in Dresden and he is well and favorably known throughout the two counties. Mr. McDonald is a clean-cut, young man with brains, energy and education. He is popular with all his acquaintances.

NO CLUE TO HERZIG

Youngstown, O., Sept. 12.—Investigation fails to reveal any clue to the family of Charles Herzig at Girard, or this vicinity. A letter found at Minot, N. D. signed "Charles Herzig" said the writer was guilty of the murder of Lizzie Brombacher, 18, near here 28 years ago, for which crime Charles Sterling, an innocent tramp was hanged in 1877. The authorities are probing.

Negotiations Deadlocked.

Christiania, Sept. 12.—The tone of the Norwegian newspapers indicate that the negotiations between the commissioners of Norway and Sweden regarding the dissolution of the union have reached an impasse. Norway being unable to accept the conditions laid down by Sweden. The Dagbladet, commenting on Sweden's refusal to discuss an arbitration treaty until Norway had accepted the Swedish conditions, declares that even war would be preferable to a peace bought at the expense of national humiliation.

Relief For Quake Victims.

Rome, Sept. 12.—Relief committees for the victims of the earthquake are being organized in every city in Italy. The municipality of Milan has contributed $10,000 and the Savings bank of that city $20,000. A ministerial council will be held to discuss a relief bill for presentation to parliament.

Fever in Michigan?

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 12.—John Howe of Marquette, who returned recently from Louisiana, where he has been employed, is believed to have yellow fever. It is believed he contracted the disease at New Orleans.

Italian Laborers Killed.

New York, Sept. 12.—Three Italian laborers were killed by the caving in of a sewer trench which they were excavating at Eighth avenue and Eighth street, Brooklyn.

IN TRAIN WRECK

Two Are Killed in Iowa—Train Carried Only Mail—No Passengers Were Aboard.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Sept. 12.—Burton fast flyer No. 8, Omaha for Chicago, ran into a string of freight cars at the Wabash crossing, in the eastern part of this city, and Engineer Nelson H. Wood and Fireman E. E. Hosler, both of Creston, Ia., received burns from which they died in a short time. The train carries only mail, and no passengers were aboard. The engine was demolished. The train was sent back to Omaha and went to Chicago by way of Plattsmouth.

SHIPPING ARMS INTO FINLAND

Revolutionists Now Aim to Form a Regular Military Organization.

DISCOVERY ALARMS RUSSIA

Importation of Rifles and Bayonets Portends a Design to Organize Resistance to the Troops—Steamer With Military Supplies Sunk by the Crew When Ordered Into Port.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—The news from Finland of the accidental discovery of the importation of rifles and ammunition in large quantities is the most serious disclosure regarding the revolutionary movement in Russia that has yet been made, as it indicates an intention to form a regular military organization. The importation of revolvers to Finland, Poland, the Baltic provinces and other districts of Russia has been an open secret for a long time. The importation of small caliber repeating rifles and carbines of a modern type, however, presupposes a design to organize formal resistance to the troops, and the presence of bayonets in the consignment strengthens this supposition.

No information can be obtained here concerning the possible identity of the filibustering steamer which, according to one dispatch from Helsinki, is supposed to have been cruising under the American flag, though this probably was used as a mask.

It is considered here that the active faction of the Young Finnsman party of Finland is probably involved in the conspiracy, and it is recalled that the investigation into the assassination of General Bobrikoff, governor general of Finland, in June of last year, disclosed the existence of a society formed for the purpose of importing arms.

Crew Sunk the Steamer.

Helsinki, Finland, Sept. 12.—Customs officials discovered 660 carbines of Swedish manufacture, with bayonets, and 120,000 cartridges, on a barren island in the Gulf of Bothnia. Later a boat belonging to the customs service discovered a 300-ton steamer near Kalliskaer rock, 20 miles outside Jacobstad. The captain and members of the crew, who spoke English, declared that the steamer was fully loaded with rifles and cartridges, and thereupon the customs officials ordered the captain to take his vessel into port and discharge the crew. Suddenly several explosions were heard from the steamer and the customs officers found the vessel sinking and her crew in lifeboats disappearing hurriedly to the south. The officers immediately pressed into service a number of fishermen, who unloaded most of the rifles and ammunition on the beach. The steamer grounded in shallow water. Her name was printed over, only the letters "John Bashon" being visible. American and German flags were found on board the vessel.

Stock Trains Collide.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 12.—A rear-end collision between two stock trains on the Illinois Central, near Chawville, resulted in the death of one stockman, the serious injuring of five others, besides the engineer and fireman, and the killing of two carloads of horses. The accident was due to the bursting of an air hose followed by the breaking in two of the second train, which was closely followed by the first. A heavy fog prevailed at the time. The dead: W. H. Greer, Blue Mound, Ill.

Demand Open Shop.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Master Horse Painters and Decorators' association of Philadelphia, whose journeymen painters are on strike for higher wages, voted for the open shop. The employers claim that the local journeymen painters' union broke an agreement they had with the master painters.

Griscom on Tokyo Riots.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 12.—A definite resume of the conditions in Tokyo is given in a cablegram from Minister Griscom to the secretary of state, which was transmitted to President Roosevelt. Minister Griscom indicates that there is no general anti-foreign or anti-Christian sentiment in Tokyo, but points out that the recent rioting was due to sporadic antagonism to the Russian church and to some native Christians.

Folk For President.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 12.—Governor J. W. Folk of Missouri was recommended for the Democratic nomination for the presidency by former Congressman King at a banquet given here. The sentiment was warmly applauded, even by Governor Cutler of Utah, Senator R. S. Swope and other prominent Republicans present.

ACQUITTED

Is Mrs. Mamie Mitchell on Charge of Murdering Her Husband in Kansas.

Troy, Kas., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Mamie Mitchell was acquitted by a jury today of the charge of murdering her husband. Two months ago they had a quarrel in the course of which she was chased out of their home, returning, however, and going to sleep. Later in the night her husband was killed by a bullet through the head while the wife was slightly wounded in the arm pit. She accused unknown burglars.

VALIDITY

Of Miners' Certificate Act Attacked by Anthracite Operators.

Seranton, Pa., Sept. 12.—On account of the inability of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers to be present, the celebrated Shea case, in which the constitutionality of the miners' certificate act is attacked, went over until the next term of court. Should the operators succeed in annulling the act it would make it possible for them to operate their mines in case of a strike with imported labor, which under the present conditions is impossible because every miner must be armed with a certificate that he has had two years' experience in the mines and is competent to handle explosives and deal with gases.

Indianapolis Printers Out.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 12.—The International Typographical committee and the committee from the typographic of this city failed to agree to an 8-hour day to commence Jan. 1. The local typographical union has ordered all members in this city to strike at once in every shop where the 8-hour day is not in effect. One hundred and fifty men are involved here. President James M. Lynch of the International Typographical union said: "I have instructed unions in their respective cities to demand contracts immediately for an 8-hour day to commence Jan. 1. Wherever the demand for the 8-hour day to commence Jan. 1 is refused, they have been instructed to strike at once."

BUFFALO

To Entertain the National Federation of Catholic Societies.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 12.—At an executive session of the national board of the Federation of Catholic Societies it was decided to hold the next national meeting at Buffalo, N. Y., either next spring or next winter. A committee composed of Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee, Bishop McFall of Trenton and Anthony Matre of St. Louis was named to confer with the bishop of Buffalo as to a suitable time. This convention was originally announced to be held in New Orleans in October next, but was called off on account of the yellow fever epidemic.

ABANDONED

Is Hope of Peace Between Crown and Opposition in Hungarian Diet.

Vienna, Sept. 12.—All hope of peace between the crown and the united opposition in the Hungarian diet seems to have come to an end. It is understood that Emperor Francis Joseph, who at first was apparently inclined to acquiesce in the plan of the Hungarian ministers for the granting of universal suffrage as one way of bringing about defeat of the united opposition, has been induced to change his mind by the Austrian ministers who feared the effect on political conditions in Austria if universal suffrage should be granted to the Hungarian people. It is not considered likely that Premier Fejervary's consultation with his colleagues will lead to any modification of the Hungarian ministerial program, and it is thought that at the audience to be held the emperor will reject the idea of universal suffrage and that the Fejervary cabinet will resign.

Special Counsel in Packers' Case.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Benjamin Davis, an attorney and ranchman of Texas, has been appointed special counsel for the government in the packers' cases by order of Attorney General William H. Moody. The order of appointment reached the office of District Attorney C. B. Morrison. Attorney Davis took the oath of office immediately. His official position during the brief case trials will be that of special assistant United States district attorney. The appointment was made by the attorney general upon the recommendation of District Attorney C. B. Morrison and Assistant Attorney General Oliver E. Paein.

Folk For President.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 12.—Governor J. W. Folk of Missouri was recommended for the Democratic nomination for the presidency by former Congressman King at a banquet given here. The sentiment was warmly applauded, even by Governor Cutler of Utah, Senator R. S. Swope and other prominent Republicans present.

COLOR LINE DRAWN

Negro Pupils Refused Admission to White High School of Kansas City, Mo.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 12.—Negro pupils were refused admission to the white high school at Kansas City, Kan., and the Ward school at Bonner Springs, Kan., 10 miles distant. In both cases the negroes withdrew quietly and there was no show of a clash. In Kansas City, Kan., it is said the negroes will test the case in the courts. The Kansas legislature last winter passed an act separating the races in the Kansas City school, a direct result of agitation following the murder of a white boy by a negro pupil.

TO SUPPRESS DISORDERS

Soldiers Are Striving Energetically In the Baku Oil Fields.

SITUATION GROWING WORSE

Rioters Stubbornly Continuing Their Attacks and Tartars and Kurds Plundering in the Blacktown District—Troops Fire into a Crowd of Workmen, Killing Seventeen.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—Private advices from Baku report that the situation there is growing worse. Other unconfirmed dispatches assert that the rioters are stubbornly continuing their attacks and that the Tartars and Kurds are plundering in the "backtown" district. The dispatches say that on Sunday the soldiers fired into a crowd of Russian workmen, killing 17.

A message to the Caucasus Oil company from Baku says that the fires are practically exhausted and that guards are being stationed in the district. During the night, the dispatches say, incendiaries tried to land at Bibibat in small boats, but were driven off by volleys from the Cossacks. They then attacked a steamer in which the employees of two oil companies had taken refuge during the uprising, but the attack was repulsed.

Oil moguls met and determined to ask the state for assistance in obtaining a 20-year loan without interest, to cover the losses resulting from the catastrophe at Baku, without which, they declared, 108 of the 135 companies would be unable to continue in business. The meeting also drew up a remonstrance, which they will ask Finance Minister Kokovsov to present to Emperor Nicholas, stating that it is impossible for the naphtha industry to exist under present conditions, and that the companies would not resume operations unless guarantees were given them that order would soon be restored and permanently maintained in the oil regions.

Japanese Government Denounced.

Tokyo, Sept. 12.—A mass meeting at Osaka passed the following resolution without hindrance by the police: "The peace that has just been concluded between Russia and Japan forfeits the fruits of victory and sows seeds of future complications and danger. The government's high-handed and unconstitutional measure has resulted in unexpected disturbance to the peace of the city in which the mikado resides. The empire's honor has been soiled and the spirit of the constitution lost. Never has our country been brought to face greater dangers. Therefore, be it resolved, that we hope that the humiliating peace agreement will be broken and the government will resign."

Arranging an Armistice.

Godzardani, Manchuria, Sept. 12.—Major General Ovanovsky, quartermaster general on Linovitch's staff, has been appointed plenipotentiary to meet the Japanese representatives and arrange the terms of an armistice. It is announced that Generals Ovanovsky and Fukushima, representing respectively General Linovitch and Field Marshal Oyama, will meet Sept. 13 to establish a line of demarcation between the two armies. Each general will have a small escort. The Chinese report that the Japanese army at Chantufu will retire to Mukden in 10 days.

Desperate Spirit of Tartars.

Tiflis, Sept. 12.—Prince Tskitani, a landed proprietor, was assassinated at Gori, 50 miles from Tiflis. The following incident showing the desperate spirit displayed by the Tartars is reported from Baku: A band of Tartars harried a group of men in the house of a rich Muselman and fired from the windows on a patrol officer who called on them to surrender. The Tartars replied with another volley and continued firing while artillery was brought up. The artillery and the Tartars were firing the Tartars pelting a man.

TOGO'S FLAGSHIP BURNS

One of the Most Powerful Warships in Japan's Navy, the Mikasa, Which Took a Prominent Part in Great Battle With Russians in Sea of Japan is Lost—Carried 935 Officers and Men.

Tokyo, Sept. 12.—(Bulletin).—The battleship Mikasa is at the bottom of the sea of Japan with 599 officers and men, almost the entire complement. Nearly every man on board, including detachments from other warships, which went to the rescue, were lost. The flames originated from mysterious sources Sunday at midnight. Before the fire was checked, it reached a magazine which exploded, blowing an immense hole in the port side of the ship below the water line. It is said that Admiral Togo was not on board.

London, Sept. 12.—The correspondence of the Reuter Telegram Company at Tokyo wires today that the Japanese navy. She was Admiral's Togo's flagship and was used by him personally in the recent great battle with the Russian fleet in the Sea of Japan. The Mikasa was a first-class battleship of 15,200 tons displacement. She was launched in 1902 and was built in England. The vessel was 400 feet long, 76 feet beam and drew 27 1-2 feet of water. Her indicated horse power was 16,431 which gave her a speed of over 18 knots. She carried 935 officers and men.

The armament of the warship consisted of four 12 inch guns, sixteen 6-inch guns, twenty 12-pounders and a number of smaller quick-firing guns. She was protected by an armored belt four to nine inches thick and above this belt were six inches of steel. Her deck was protected by three inches of armor and over her bulkhead were twelve inches of steel. Over her heavy gun positions was steel armor 14 inches and six inches of steel protected her secondary battery gun positions.

The Mikasa as the flagship of the Japanese fleet suffered the heaviest loss in the great action with Admiral Rojstevensky. She lost 63 of her crew in killed and wounded. She also took a prominent part in the battle off Port Arthur August 10, 1904.

RETRENCHMENT

The Order of the Day in the Equitable Says President Morton in Outlining Policy.

New York, Sept. 12.—President Paul Morton outlined the policy of the new management of the Equitable Life Assurance society in an address which he delivered at Manhattan Beach to 700 agents of the society. Mr. Morton said: "I am going to say a few words to you on your new administration. There will be no attempt to make it dazzlingly brilliant. The efforts will be to make it honest, courageous and conservative. There will be the greater consideration shown for the policyholders and their interests will be protected. All of the new directors are policyholders. Businesslike methods will prevail. The more economy of the right sort we can constitute, the more we can save to the policyholders. Investment will be of the highest character. The institution will not be run as an adjunct to any one or several banking houses. There will be no attempt to do anything anybody, not even ourselves. Retrenchments are the order of the day in the Equitable."

ADDITIONAL ISSUE OF $200,000 WATER WORKS BONDS PROBABLE

Council Passed Resolution to Submit Question To Vote of Newark People.

Board of Public Service Urges That This Action be Taken--Board of Trade's Municipal Committee Re- ports Favorably on Bond Issue Proposition--Mayor Crilly Give Views in a Lengthy Report.

The members of the city council sat patiently Monday night while Deputy Clerk R. I. Davis read several constructive reports relative to the construction of the municipal water works' plant. The first report was from the consulting engineer to the city council and the Board of Trade committee which met with the Public Services. The report covered many pages of typewritten manuscript and consumed much time in reading. Another report which was quite lengthy, was presented to the council by Mayor Crilly protesting against any consideration of the purchase of the old water works' plant. The latter report is given below in full.

The report from Engineer Davis was a part of the public service board's report which recommended that the additional bond issue be made in order to cover the entire cost of the construction of an adequate water works system for the city.

The most important action of Monday night's meeting was taken when a resolution was introduced asking that an ordinance be introduced to submit the question of issuing additional bonds in the sum of $200,000, this sum of money to be expended with the $300,000 already in the hands of the city, to build a complete water works system and filtration plant as provided for in the plans of Engineer Davis.

The Proceedings.

Every member of the council was in his seat when the roll was called and a number of spectators were present. The routine business was disposed of in short order. Mayor Crilly submitted his monthly report which showed that $118.50 had been collected during the month of August. The committee on public service recommended that S. B. King and W. L. Smith be permitted to construct a sidewalk on Twelfth street as they requested. Both reports were adopted.

The public service board in a brief report recommended that C. G. Peany's second addition to Newark be accepted. The sinking fund trustees reported that a resolution had been adopted by them to refund $16,000 in refunding bonds which will become due within a few months. These reports were adopted.

Councilman Beadle introduced a petition from property owners on East-ern avenue between Webb and Mill streets, objecting to the sewer which was asked for several weeks ago. The petition stated that no sewer was needed and that the street was already properly drained.

The ordinance asking for the issuance of $300,000 worth of bonds for the City hospital, was passed and after the ordinance has been legally published, the old cemetery lot at Sixth and West Main will have been chosen as the site for the building. The ordinance by Moser for the opening of Iron avenue in the Wehrle addition, was also passed.

Mr. Moser introduced a resolution asking that an ordinance be issued requiring all the owners of vacant lots in the city to cut the weeds on the same without delay. Mr. Moser stated that his attention had been called to this evil by the Board of Health. The resolution was adopted.

Mayor Crilly's Report.

Mayor A. J. Crilly has from time to time defined his position regarding the question of municipal water works system but at the council meeting Monday night he submitted a long report which went into details regarding his opinion in the matter. Briefly, he is opposed to the purchase of the old plant because it is in such a condition that it would cost almost as much to make the extensions and repairs necessary as it would to construct a new plant. The report in full follows:

The Board of Public Service have reported to me that the money already appropriated for the construction of a new water works system is not sufficient to build and equip a new plant according to the plans and specifications that are now prepared, and that an additional bond issue of $200,000 must be made in order to carry out the work to completion, and to that end I would like to make the following suggestions that should be acted upon immediately.

The people of this city have determined by their vote that the city should build a new water works plant, and the officers of the city have been commanded to carry out the will of the people. The people have never in any manner signified their desire that the city purchase or negotiate for the present plant of the old water company, and the advisability of purchasing the same or erecting a new plant was thoroughly considered at the time the people voted to construct the new works. I have always been and shall be opposed to the purchase of the plant, and for reasons that are only too apparent to any one who will stop to consider them.

1st. It was built to serve a village and Newark has more than doubled its population since the time it was built.

2nd. Proper and necessary betterments and improvements cannot be made because the plant was not built upon a plan which extensions can be made, and because the pumps, engines, boilers, mains and pipes are all too small, and totally inadequate for the purposes the city would have to use them. Further, the plant was not properly built. The packing of the joints of pipes was not properly made, too little lead having been used, with the result that the slightest increase of pressure causes the mains and pipes to leak at the joints. If the city should purchase the plant, nearly every foot of pipe, now in the ground which could be used, would have to be relaid, and every joint repacked and relaid. This would necessitate the tearing up of every street on which a main or pipe is laid, and would cost as much outside the cost of pipe as to lay new mains.

3rd. The present plant has not over $30,000 worth of property which would be of any service to the city.

I gather these points and arrive at these conclusions from the opinions of competent and trustworthy experts in water works engineering.

I am opposed to an appraisal of the plant as provided by the franchise because it is my belief that the city would not receive fair treatment under such a plan, and for the reason that I believe, if such appraisal were made the city would be bound to accept the plant at any valuation such appraisers saw fit to place upon it. I know the water company say that they will agree that the appraisal shall bind them, but not the city. The company itself may have the power to do this; that is the men who own the stock; but they cannot bind the bond holders by any such agreement and the appraisal would first have to go to satisfy these bonds. I am further opposed to any scheme of appraisal because I don't consider it an honest business proposition. If this company desired to sell, why didn't they say how much they want, or at least answer the city's offer to pay them $100,000.00 then the city would have been in a position to give an answer, either yes or no.

The city has $300,000.00 to apply to the building of a water works system. We all recognize that circumstances over which we have no control, but of which we are none the less proud--the phenomenal growth of our city, and the addition of a filtration plant which must meet the approval of the State Board of Health, since the vote was taken authorizing bonds to that amount have made it necessary to expend in the neighborhood of $200,000 more to build and equip a first-class, up-to-date water works system.

With the money on hand the city can proceed to do so much of the work necessary to be done as will give us better fire protection than we now have and have it completed by the time the contract with the water company expires.

I believe in the initiative and referendum and whilst it is my belief, that this is the proper and business method to pursue, it is only my belief, and I urge upon you the necessity of doing this work as the majority of our people want it done, and not as has been charged, in accordance with our ideas whether the people want it or not.

Therefore I propose that this decision and speculation may be stopped, that your honorable body submit the proposition of an additional bond issue of $200,000.00 to the vote of the citizens so that the entire plant can be completed without delay.

I suggest that this council order a special election, and that the following question be submitted to the decision of the citizens of this city:

"Shall bonds be issued in the sum of $200,000.00 to complete the water works system."

I urge upon you that it is your duty to act promptly in this matter.

Respectfully submitted,

ANDREW J. CRILLY,
Mayor.

Municipal Committee Report.

The municipal committee of the Newark Board of Trade which has met from time to time with the Public Service Board, in a report submitted, approved of the board expending the $300,000, going as far as possible with the work and then ask the voters for an additional bond issue of $200,000 to complete the system. Their report follows:

Newark, O., Sept. 11, 1905.
To the Honorable Council of the City of Newark, O.:

Gentlemen:--We, the undersigned municipal committee of the Board of Trade, adopted the following resolution:

Be it resolved, that the committee of the Board of Trade hereby approved of the Board of Public Service, going ahead and expending the $300,000, for the construction of the water works plant, for fire protection, as now designed by Engineer Davis; and also recommend that Your Honorable Body put the question before the people of Newark, asking for an additional bond issue of $200,000 to complete the plant.

Service Board Report.

The Board of Public Service in a lengthy report stated to the council what had been done in the matter and described the whole situation as graphically as possible. The report of Engineer Davis to the Board of Trade's municipal committee was included in this report but on account of its great length, it is impossible to publish it in this connection. The report of the board of public service follows:

Office Board of Public Service,
Newark, O., Sept. 11, '05.

To the Honorable City Council:
Gentlemen:--We, the Board of Public Service, hereby submit the following report:

We recommend the acceptance of the plan of Chas. G. Peany's second addition to the City of Newark.

We report that the contractor has completed the Oakwood avenue sewer from East Main street to the north line of Maiden street, and as this sewer was put in to be assessed at benefits derived, we request your Honorable Body to pass the necessary legislation to make this assessment, so it can be certified over to the county auditor for collection.

On May 8, 1905, your Honorable Body passed two ordinances as follows:

Authorizing and directing the Board of Public Service of the City of Newark, Ohio, to enter into a contract for the erection and building of a municipal water works system.

Approved by Mayor, May 10, 1905.
Appropriating $300,000 derived from the sale of bonds of the City of Newark, Ohio, dated July 1, 1904, issued for the purpose of raising money to establish and build a system of water works for said city.

In compliance with said ordinances we desire to report our progress as follows:

On May the 23rd, 1905, the Service Board made a contract with Mr. L. K. Davis, the consulting engineer of Pittsburg, Pa., to revise the plans and specifications for a system of water works that had been prepared by Mr. L. E. Chapin, of Canton, O., for the City of Newark, in 1902; the cause for said revision became necessary on account of the very rapid growth of our city in the last three years as you all know where the largest foundry in the United States is now located, covering about 15 acres of ground with buildings, was at that time a farm under cultivation and both glass plants have doubled their capacity within the time mentioned.

Mr. L. K. Davis prepared new plans, specifications and estimates of cost of the pumping station intake supply well and distribution system that Mr. Chapin had prepared in 1902, and in addition prepared plans, specifications and estimates of cost of a filtration plant and clear water reservoir with a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons, which is now required by the State Board of Health and which Mr. Chapin did not figure on in his estimate in 1902. After the plans had been completed and approved by the State Board of Health, the Service Board proceeded to advertise for bids on the 25 various items that it takes to complete a water works system. A provision in the advertisement gave the Board the option to reject any or all bids or any portion thereof. There were four bids received and opened on August 12, 1905, and after the bids were tabulated it was plain to see that they were all above the engineer's estimate, therefore the board rejected all bids and instructed the engineer to prepare plans and specifications and estimates of cost of a water system that could be constructed within the funds available, which is $300,000.00.

These specifications cover the following items:

Pumping station building, complete two 3,000,000 gallon pumping engines, condensers and piping, two two hundred horse power boiler and piping, stack and breeching, boiler and piping line to well, intake well and pipe, a distribution of 24 mil of pipes, specials, valves and two hundred and thirty-two fire hydrant at an estimated cost of two hundred and sixty eight thousand one hundred and thirty-two dollars and thirty-five cents. This distribution would give fire protection for every manufacturer, and the central part of the city, and could reach most any residence with 600 or 700 feet of hose. By constructing this portion of the system it will make the city independent of the Newark water company when the contract expires on Sept. 1, 1906, and cut off the fire hydrant rentals which at present is $13,500.00 per year, and as you know the city is paying interest on $300,000.00 which is $13,500.00, making $27,000.00 per year.

But under the rules of the State Board of Health, we would not be allowed to sell water for drinking purposes until we build a filtration plant, therefore the Board ordered the engineer to prepare complete plans, specifications and estimates of cost for a system of water that would be adequate for the present and the next four or five years to come, which estimate is five hundred and thirty eight thousand four hundred and eighty dollars and two cents.

The opinion of the Board is that these figures can be trimmed down to five hundred thousand dollars as the engineer has made very liberal estimates, which is two hundred thousand dollars more than is available at present. The Board therefore recommends that your Honorable Body pass the necessary legislation to submit this proposition to the vote of the people for an additional bond issue of two hundred thousand dollars to complete the water system. The Board invited the municipal committee of the Board of Trade to look over these plans and specifications and the engineer's report to that committee is herein attached.

The decision of the municipal committee of the Board of Trade has been put in writing to submit to your Honorable Body this evening.

Respectfully submitted,

J. P. LAMB,
Pres. Board of Public Service.

Close of Central League Season.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 12.--The third season of the Central league came to a close Monday, with Wheeling winning the pennant. Financially the season is said to have been the most successful in the history of the league. Grand Rapids leads in attendance, with an even 100,000; Wheeling ranks second, with 70,000; Evansville, Springfield, South Bend, Dayton, Canton (including games played at Fort Wayne) and Terre Haute following in the order named. Announcements made by managers in the last few days tend to show that the league will probably have the same circuit in 1906.

Manager Barrow Resigns.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 12.--Ed G. Barrow, manager of the Indianapolis club of the American Baseball association, has resigned to accept the offer of the Toronto club of the Eastern league to become manager of that organization. Mr. Barrow will remain with the Indianapolis club until the end of the season. It is reported authoritatively that Mr. Watkins, manager of the Minneapolis club, will manage the Indianapolis club next year.

Manager Watkins' Denial.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 12.--W. M. Watkins, manager of the Minneapolis baseball team, absolutely denied the story that he would go to Indianapolis next year and manage the team in that city, his former home. He also denied the report that he would sell his team at this point to James Padden of St. Louis, and further states that he will remain in this city as well as manage the Minneapolis ball team next year, though not from the bench, as formerly.

Pete Browning Dead.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 12.--Louis Rogers Browning, better known to the baseball world as "Pete" Browning, is dead, death resulted from an abscess which formed in his head. Browning was 45 years old and contemporary of Comiskey, Dan Brouthers, Tom Aamsey and others. For several years he had all professional ball players as a leader and his eccentricities made him famous wherever baseball was played. Some months ago Browning was declared insane and removed to an asylum, but the physicians at the institution found that his apparent dementia was the result of the abscess pressing on his brain and he was released.

Browning at one time played in Columbus, being a member of the first Western league team placed there by Tom Loftus. That was in 1896. Browning's best playing days were past then and he remained on the team only a short time.

NOTES OF THE RAILWAYS

Successful Tests With Peat as Locomotive Fuel.

LUXURY ON ENGLISH TRAINS.

Valets, Ladies' Maids and Numbered Seats Among Other Conveniences. Each Crew on the Pennsylvania Lines to Have Its Special Engine. Trainmen Not to Wear Flowers.

Peat is abundantly stored in our Maine bogs, says the Lewiston Evening Journal. Androscoggin county has enough peat to supply all Maine with fuel for a generation. Yet we fail to encourage intelligent efforts to develop our own resources in fuel. A number of experiments which will be of interest to many Maine men have recently been made by the Boston and Maine railroad in the use of peat fuel. So far the tests have given entire satisfaction, and now the company is preparing to give the new locomotive fuel a more extended trial than any heretofore undertaken.

The company had its attention called to the value of peat as a steaming agency some weeks ago and upon representation that it was equal to bituminous coal was induced to test its qualities. These were eminently satisfactory, and a carload of the material has been delivered for further experiment. The source of supply is in the town of Lewington, Mass., and it is said that this single deposit would furnish enough fuel for all the railroads entering Boston for a period of 230 years.

The treatment consists in cutting out the peat in large cubes and then subjecting them to heavy pressure, which extrudes all the moisture and makes the mass as compact as anthracite. In the pressing the cakes take on an elliptical shape, with an inch hole running through them, which admits of free burning. In reporting on the first experiments the officials of the road say that they found that this fuel made an exceptionally hot fire, was free from smoke and that it could be purchased for less than coal. From an economical standpoint, however, the coal showed to better advantage owing to slower consumption, but the two advantages named for the peat fully offset that in favor of coal.

The further tests which the company proposes making will be watched with interest, as a solution of the present smoke nuisance may be found in the general use for steaming purposes of the peat fuel.

The Great Western railway in England has put a train called the "Cornishman Limited" on the run between London and Penzance. Between London and Plymouth, 240 miles, the average speed will be 35.7 miles per hour, says the Railway Review and Engineering. Three new trains have been built for the service, composed of the largest cars yet run in England. Each coach is seventy feet long and nine and a half feet wide. A train is made up of six coaches, with a total seating capacity for 288 passengers.

Every seat in the train is numbered, and the passenger will receive a perforated ticket, half of which will be torn off by the guard and slipped, so that it cannot be removed, into a little slot at the back of the seat just above the head.

Electric light and electric fans are conveniently located. Valets and ladies' maids are carried, in addition to the guards and dining car attendants. The maids will constantly patrol the train to render service to women and women traveling without an escort. Children and especially watch over.

An order recently issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad company which is heartily received by the engineers and firemen provides that each engine crew shall use the same locomotive all the time, and no other will be assigned to a crew unless they are running extra, says the Pittsburg dispatch. It is understood that in many cases the Pennsylvania has been pooling locomotives on account of the shortage of motive power in recent months, and by the pooling system a locomotive crew gets a different one on nearly every run. The officials realize that when a crew has the same locomotive all the time better care is taken of the machine and better results are obtained.

It will be the duty of the crew to look after the engines at the end of a run, and in this way the officials consider a great deal of repair work will be eliminated. It is also a recognized fact that an engineer becomes attached to a certain engine and can accomplish a great deal more with one than he knows. The new order is not only satisfactory to the trainmen, but is looked upon by the officials as a means of lessening the expense of keeping up the motive power by having the engines carefully looked after from day to day.

"In future do not wear flowers or bouquets in the laps of your coats or any decorations of any kind that are not prescribed by the rules." The above order, recently issued for the guidance of Norfolk and Western trainmen, was provoked by the remarkable taste for variety and quantity of flowers worn by conductors and other trainmen, says a Cincinnati dispatch to the Pittsburg Dispatch. The officials of the roads thought the trainmen were rather overdoing the boutonniere stunt, it seemed, and decided to have all posies discarded.

It is said that the final straw added to the load on official shoulders was placed a few days ago when a conductor startingly decorated himself with sweet peas, bridal roses and nasturtiums.

The greatest architect in the world has just been built at Berlin for the Russian government. It is said to be of 216,000,000 candle power.

There are more barrels made in this country than anywhere in the world. It is said that now 200,000,000 have been made in the course of one year.

Incredible Brutality. I would have been a brutally brutal fellow if I had not been the best he ever had in his suffering. "My boy," he says, "let a friend cash over his cash." "What will you have—morphine or carbolic acid?" "I would be satisfied." "Well," he said, "which is the cheap one?"—Cleveland Leader.

African Explorer suddenly tackled by a wild elephant and lifted in the air—What a great outlook from here!

An Unfailing Rule. "I can always tell if a watermelon is ripe or not," says Fadogus. "I learned how when I was a boy."

"What's your plan?" asks Madogous. "You just thump the melon with your fingers, and if it goes plunk it is ripe, but if it goes plunk it is green."

"That may be all right," comments Madogous, "but I've got a surer test than that."

"You have?"

"Yep. When I go to buy one I notice that the green ones are always 15 cents cheaper than the ripe ones."

The Rolling Passion. Titewad's cashier had run away with $2,000 of his employer's hard earned money, and the old man was in despair. He rushed to the nearest drug store.

"Give me some poison," he cried. "I wish to commit suicide."

"Sure," answered the obliging clerk. "What will you have—morphine or carbolic acid?"

"I would be satisfied."

HUMOR

JUST HIS LUCK.

The Woman in the Seat in Front Had a Big Hat, Did—

"Just my infernal luck!" growled Smithers to himself. "Here I've paid $2 for this seat, and now I won't be able to see a blamed thing!"

The gentle reader has no doubt already guessed that the above remarks were caused by a theater hut. Such was indeed the case. It was a big hat, and the lady who wore it was by no means a dwarf. As Smithers is a small man, his chances of viewing the performance were extremely slim. He dodged from side to side and stretched his neck to the utmost, but all in vain. He could not even see the stage.

"It's a downright swindle; that's what it is!" he muttered under his breath, for he lacked the nerve to voice his sentiments aloud. "The idea of charging a man $2 to sit and look at a hat. How a lady who pretends to be well bred can wear a thing like that to the theater bents me. Now, if I were to put on my high hat the people behind me would raise an awful kick, although it would merely shut off their view of that confounded mass of plumes and things. After this I shall stay at home and read about the plays in the newspapers. Ah, there goes the overture! I can hear that anyway."

It's strange that the women don't invent some way of intercepting sound too. That would make their happiness complete. And yet they talk about giving women more rights! They'll want us poor men to get off the earth next. I wish we lived in the good old days of unlimited despotism and I were the lord high what you may call him. I'd—

But the world will never know what Smithers would do in that case, for at that moment the lady in front of him removed the offending headgear and placed it in her lap just as the curtain rose on the first act of the play.—New York World.

By the Aid of Science.

"Ah," said the fair palmist at the church festival to the sweet young thing who presented her hand to be read for the benefit of the poor, be nighted heathen. "I see by your hand that you are engaged to be married."

"Oh, how wonderful!" giggled the sweet young thing.

"And," continued the palmist, her voice taking on a cutting tone, "I see further that you are engaged to marry Mr. Poppoffen."

"Oh, how in the world could you discover that?"

"By my science."

"But surely the lines in my hand do not!"

"Who said anything about the lines in your hand? You are wearing the engagement ring I returned to him last week."—Chicago Tribune.

Willing to Compromise.

The poor but honest young man had bearded the millionaire in his den.

"Sir," he added, "I want to marry your daughter."

"Impossible, sir; impossible!" exclaimed the old man. "Why I would rather give up every shilling I have than part with my only daughter."

"Oh, very well," calmly rejoined the diplomatic youth. "If that's the way you feel about it I won't be too heavy on you. Just write me out a check for half a million, and we'll let it go at that."—Town Topics.

Killing Her.

"She doesn't seem to be happy."

"No, she's worrying herself to death."

"I shouldn't think a woman in her circumstances would have a single care."

"But, you see, she's afraid she might die first and give her husband a chance to will most of his fortune to his relatives instead of hers."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Handicapped.

Father—I don't see why Willie is always stumbling and sprawling over the sidewalk. Why, even a cat always lands on its feet.

Mother (sarcastically)—Well, if Willie had as many feet as a cat he could doubtless manage to land on at least two of them too.—Detroit Free Press.

A Position of Responsibility.

"Does he occupy a position of trust and responsibility?"

"I should say he does. He is the man who weighs out the steak in the meat store."

An Optimistic Lover.

Tom: You look happy today.

Dick: I feel that way. I proposed to Miss Locket last night.

Tom: Go on, old man. She's very charming.

Dick: That's what I'm so hopeful she said "No" last night.—Denver News.

NEWS OF THE STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD

A PROMISE MADE 50 YEARS AGO

FULFILLED BY HENRY CARR AND HIS BOYHOOD CHUM, G.
WALKER.

Affecting Meeting of Two Gray-haired Men During Centennial Week in Granville.

Granville, O., Sept. 12.—From what has been seen and heard during the past week, it seems evident that everyone loves Granville: but we must accept the statement that some love it less, and some more. Of those who love it more, no name more readily suggests itself than that of Mr. Henry Carr of Elizabeth, N. J.

Mr. Carr, though for years absent from the town of his birth is pre-eminently a citizen of Granville—first, last and always. His boyhood was spent in the house on West Elm street, commonly known as the "old Chandler place," the building of this house was completed by Mr. Carr's father about 1852.

Mr. Carr's love for Granville is of that deep, true, abiding kind that time cannot change or destroy. His enjoyment of the Centennial has possessed a delightful fervor which affected all with whom he came in contact.

Fifty years ago, at the semi-centennial celebration of the Presbyterian church, Henry Carr sat in the gallery with his boy chum, G. G. Walker. At the conclusion of the exercises, Elias Gilman, Esq., oldest member of the church, made a motion that the church meet again fifty years from that date. The motion was seconded by the youngest member, a son of the Rev. Jacob Little, presiding pastor. Mr. Carr leaned over and whispered to his chum, "We'll be there."

On last Tuesday morning, as the veterans honoring "Patriotic Day" were marching toward the old cemetery, bystanders witnessed an affecting sight—two gray haired men, locked in each other's embrace, and sobbing out the broken greetings they had no words to utter. These men were Henry Carr of Elizabeth, N. J., and G. G. Walker of New Orleans, La. After the fifty years, they met again.

Mr. Carr's stay in Granville was spent at the Burton House, thus adding another link to the chain of historic interest which binds this old Wayside Inn to the heart of the world. No more honored guest has ever slept there, though its roof has sheltered William McKinley, Senator in 1880, and a long list of others famous in the annals of their country. Yet within its walls has never rested a pilgrim who found in Granville a truer Mecca of all his hopes and dreams.

Quite a number of the decorations on West Broadway were stolen Sunday night, including those at the driveway leading to Sugar Loaf Hill. An effort is being made to ferret out the guilty parties and punish them. The fall term of Denison University will begin on Thursday, when it is expected there will be a large increase in the enrollment of students.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Harris of Cincinnati, who have been here during the past week in attendance at the Centennial, have returned home.

Mrs. J. G. Little of Pittsburg, Pa., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edward E. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reed entertained in honor of Mrs. Sahnna Thomas Helms, Saturday evening at their home on Elm street. Refreshments were served during the evening. Those present were Mrs. Helms and children, Mr. and Mrs. Boaz Jones, Mr. Cyrus Jones of Marysville, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Case and Mrs. John Geach, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wright, and Mrs. Little of Pittsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hammond of Allegheny City Pa., who have been visiting here during the past week, returned home on Monday after having had a very pleasant time.

COSHOCTON GLASS FACTORY STARTS

J. F. ALBERTSON ANNOUNCES HE WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

Harry Remer Withdraws Divorce
Petition—Mrs. Frank Johnson Dead
Coshocton News.

Coshocton, O., Sept. 12.—President Thomas J. Gainer of the Coshocton Glass company, formerly of Newark, says the company will begin blowing bottles at the glass factory to-morrow morning. The fires have been going for the past 10 ten days.

J. F. Albertson, the well known butcher, has shied his castor into the circle and comes out to-day a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor. This makes a three-cornered contest, the others being "Sure-James" Manner and Dr. H. R. McCurdy.

Harry Remer, who a short time ago applied for a divorce from his wife, Mary, because he said she was in Cambridge and refused to come home and told him she was waiting to get rid of him so she could marry another man, has evidently taken back his words. At all events he has taken back his wife, or at least the suit for divorce has been dismissed.

Mrs. Frank Johnson died at her home at Franklin Station. Her age was about 38 years and her maiden name was Annie Kitchens.

The handsome new ball bearing roller skates for the new rink arrived Monday and everything is being rushed toward completion for the opening Saturday.

Joseph Sawyer, the veteran messenger "boy" of the Coshocton postoffice, celebrated his 80th birthday quietly yesterday.

HARRY S. WAITE

Becomes Superintendent of the New ark Branch of the American Bottle Company.

Massillon, Sept. 12.—The announcement that a change would be made in the management at Reed & Company's glass factory reached the blowers in this city as a severe blow, especially that part relative to the promotion of Harry S. Waite to the general superintendency of the big plant at Newark, O.

The change is a decided promotion for Mr. Waite, but strange to say the Massillon man is not favorably impressed with the transfer. Mr. Waite has been superintendent of Reed & Company's plant in this city for a number of years and holds the highest good will of the local blowers who are employed under him. He regrets exceedingly the fact that he will be forced to give up his home here and leave his numerous friends.

The Newark plant is one of the largest in the country and Mr. Waite can be congratulated upon his good fortune in securing the position there. The salary is much larger, and of course the responsibilities are greater. Fourteen hundred men are employed at the Newark plant over which Mr. Waite will have charge. All varieties of ware are manufactured, from the once product to large carboys.

Lawrence Kerrigan, who for the past few years has been superintendent of the Pocock glass factory, will be asked to succeed Mr. Waite as superintendent at Reed's. Mr. Kerrigan will in all probability accept as both factories are already under the control of the American Glass Bottle company.

BAKER REUNION IN BEECH WOODS

BURIAL OF WALLACE ANSPACH WHO WAS DROWNED IN MAUMEE BAY.

A Prowling What Is It Has Appeared on the Somerset Road—News
From Beech Woods.

Thornville (Beech Woods), Sept. 12.—The first Baker reunion was held Saturday in William Phillips Grove, south of Oakthorpe, and the following officers were chosen: Dr. William Baker, president; J. C. Elder, secretary; B. F. Baker, treasurer. A committee was appointed on necrology, program, finance, transportation and grounds. A short address was given by Uncle Adelman Baker, an aged resident of Richland township. William Parrett, sr., gave a short history of his happy connections with the Bakers, and an address was given by Mrs. Barnes, of Kansas City. Music was furnished by the Rushville band. The register showed over two hundred and fifty partook of the royal dinner at the great table. About six hundred were present. The next reunion will be held the third Wednesday in August, 1906, in William Phillips' Grove. At the close of the exercises a collection was taken which amounted to twenty dollars.

The Bell and Citizens Telephone companies have planted their poles so plentifully through here that the country resembles a huge harrow turned upside down.

Rev. E. A. Young, of Somerset, preached at Dr. Baker's church Sunday at 2 p. m.

The citizens of Bruno were given the scare of their lives a few evenings ago when a steed-mounted squad ran madly through the street, discharging fire-arms in rapid succession and yelling like mad which made the citizens think that they were attacked by some historic bandits of the wild west.

H. C. Lamb lost his pocket book last week containing over $30 and other valuable papers which have not yet been found.

John Binkley, of Bruno, has been on the sick list the past week.

Edgar Perry and wife spent Friday with James Perry and family.

The stone crusher at the lime stone quarry on Charles Cover's farm, which was opened recently, has been closed until after corn cutting.

William Cloud & Co., of Oakthorpe, are building the new Dunkard church at Zionsville, which will soon be completed.

A prowling-what-is-it has put in its appearance on the Somerset road north of Redington. It has lately been seen by several different persons, and a composite description makes it about seven feet tall, ten feet long, black with white spots resembling a huge Arabian horse with fiery eyes, resembling locomotive headlights and raving like a tiger. Frank Drum was the last victim to be seized with consternation and like others abandoned this route to Somerset.

Many farmers with their wives from this place, were in attendance at the state fair last week.

Boy Stoltz, of Columbus, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Stoltz this week.

Fred Woolard and wife, of Columbus, have been the guests of Jacob Lones and wife the past week.

Pearl Foster is afflicted with a pelvic abscess and is unable to perform his work.

The body of Wallace Anspach was brought to his home at Redington and entered at the cemetery at that place. The unfortunate young man fell overboard a vessel in Maumee Bay about two weeks ago where he was at work. He fell to the water 30 feet comparatively helpless. No one could render him assistance. A diligent search for the body was all to no purpose until it was washed ashore nearly six miles from where it sank.

EDSON J. BREECE

The funeral will be held from the home of Mr. Breese, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, and the remains will be taken to Fredericktown for interment.

Jersey News.

Jersey, O., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Jennie Brown, of this place, and Mr. Simon Conrad, of Amador, O., were married last Wednesday at Newark by Rev. L. S. Boyce.

Guy Kirkpatrick and George Kumlir, of Columbus, spent Sunday with Dr. J. F. Kirkpatrick.

ZANESVILLE ELKS

Will Hold Charity Outing in Short
Time—Visitors From Newark and Other Nearby Towns.

Zanesville, Sept. 12.—The local lodge of B. P. O. Elks will give a field day and outing at Gant park within the next three weeks for the sake of charity and the proceeds will probably be divided among the hospitals and other charitable institutions of the city.

The date of the outing has not been set. The committee on arrangements is composed of Charles Stewart, Clyde Reasoner, Simon Linser, Jr., Edward Zinsmeister and R. L. Quieser.

Besides local members of the lodge visitors from Coshocton, Newark, Cambridge, Lancaster, New Lexington and Woodsfield will attend. In the latter place about 40 of the members are former Zanesville residents.

A ball game will be held during the day and other prize contests arranged for. One of the prizes to be offered is a diamond set Elk pin.

The outing will be the first of its kind ever held and the success attending this one will determine whether or not it will be made of annual occurrence.

THOS. CALDWELL

Died at Brownsville at the Age of 83
Years, After Lingered Illness of Heart Trouble—Personal.

Brownsville, Sept. 12.—Mr. Thomas Caldwell, an old and highly respected resident of this place, died at his home Friday evening, after a lingering illness of heart trouble.

The deceased was 83 years of age. He is survived by a wife, three sons and one daughter, namely Rev. Charles Caldwell, of Chicago Junction; A. W. Caldwell, of Mt. Perry; John Caldwell, of Adams Mass., and Mrs. Emma Tipton, of Kansas.

Funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Mr. Brown. Interment in Brownsville cemetery.

Miss Allie Oldham, of Pittsburg, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Phoebe Oldham.

Gus Kemper and wife, of Zanesville, were the guests of the former's parents Friday.

Mrs. Levi Loughman and daughter, of Newark, are visiting C. I. Kresager and family.

Mrs. John Mease, of Upper Sandusky, spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Woodcock and family. Mr. Gus Brown and wife, of Newark, are visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown.

Bleeding to Death.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 12.—Joseph Schwartz, aged 28, married, is slowly dying at his home in this city from a peculiar cause. Schwartz is an employee of the B. and O. shops, and a year or more ago contracted a disease of the blood. On August 23 he had a tooth pulled, and since then blood has been flowing from the cavity constantly. The efforts of several doctors to stop the flow has been unavailing.

Lee Woman in Columbus.

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Minnie Lee, the Chicago woman alleged to have attempted to extort money from Governor Herrick, reached this city from Cleveland. She was accompanied by a little boy and shadowed by a Pinkerton detective. The woman did not attempt to visit the governor, but she did consult with Judge Ulric Sloane relative to his taking up her case. No conclusions were reached. Governor Herrick's attorneys have been in communication with Judge Sloane and have furnished him information which they secured from detectives. While here, Mrs. Lee stopped at the Chittenden hotel. When she read the newspaper account of how her son-in-law, W. F. Ruster, had discovered her and declared he would leave Chicago, as he could not stand up under the disgrace, she burst into tears.

Youthful Brawler.

Niles, O., Sept. 12.—Leonard Parks, the 7-year-old boy who last Friday helped rob the First National bank of $7,000, made an attempt on the Dollar Savings bank with skeleton keys he had taken from the Central school building. A policeman happened along in time to see him trying the different keys to the rear door of the bank building. He will likely be taken to the reform school.

Identified as an Ohioan.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Fred Honemann of Canton, O., identified a body which was taken from Lake Michigan. Mr. Honemann said the corpse was that of his uncle, George Honemann. The uncle is supposed to have fallen from a steamer while on his way to Chicago from Holland Mich. Deceased was a member of the Canton Central league baseball club at Canton.

UNTRUE HE BRANDS ALL THE CHARGES

AND ECKELBERRY SUES ELDER
FITZWATER AND OTHERS FOR DAMAGES.

Filing of Suit in Marysville Has Created the Biggest Sensation of the Whole Year.

Marysville, O., Sept. 12.—Rev. J. H. Fitzwater, presiding elder of the Delaware District, Central Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. T. B. Graham of the Methodist Book Concern, and Rev. Aaron Thomas, pastor of the Methodist church at Richwood, have been made defendants in a sensational damage suit for $5,000 filed by Hile Eckelberry, a prominent church member, business man, Republican politician and substantial citizen. The plaintiff, in his petition, which covers several pages of manuscript, alleges that the defendants caused statements to be published in the quarterly conference book reflecting on Eckelberry's character, which Eckelberry says are untrue. The plaintiff says that his good name, character and reputation have been damaged to the extent of $5,000 on account of the alleged false statements, for which he asks judgment.

Eckelberry claims that the defendants for some time have tried to oust him from the church and the matter was brought before the Central Ohio Conference here last September and will be aired at the conference to be held in Fremont on September 23. The filing of the suit has caused one of the biggest sensations ever known in Union county, owing to the prominence of the parties.

Caught in Postoffice.

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—Frank Rea, a young man living at 578 East Third avenue, was caught at an early hour in the Milo postoffice. Street car employees surrounded the building and kept Rea inside until the police arrived. He was taken to police headquarters and will be held until United States postoffice authorities can take charge of the case.

Old Soldier Crushed.

Dayton, O., Sept. 12.—William Patterson, 55, a member of the Soldiers' home, was instantly killed by a car at the entrance of the home grounds. The man was lying on the track, and it is supposed that he was stepping from one track to the other to avoid a west-bound car, when he stumbled and fell on the rails.

Victim of Despondency.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 12.—John McGill, at one time proprietor of the Great Western billiard hall, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. Despondency because of constant illness is believed to have prompted the act, which was committed before the eyes of his wife and his mother-in-law.

PIONEER PICNIC

The Pioneers and their friends expect a grand time at the Pioneer's picnic to be held at Idlewild Park on Thursday, Sept. 14. There will be an all day picnic and those attending are expected to bring well filled baskets. An interesting program will be rendered, consisting of addresses, music and pioneer reminiscences, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. Addresses will be made by Col. W. A. Taylor of Columbus, Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of Denison university, and others. Many of the townships have sent in their lists of citizens 70 years old and upwards, which discloses some curious and interesting facts. So far, Lima township leads in the number of citizens 70 years old and upwards, having reported 90 such citizens. Madison township, so far, seems to have the greatest number of foreign born citizens, and quite a number of residents of various townships have reported who are 90 years old and upwards, the oldest so far reported, being Mr. Rowe, of McKean township, who was 95 years old last February. All these older pioneers are expected to be present at the picnic and sit on the platform.

At Her Best

In late summer Colorado is at her best. The green of the verdure on mountain and meadow is slowly turning to crimson and gold. Afar looms a peak whose snow-capped summit is enshrouded in autumnal haze. The air is laden with the spice of mountain pines and fir trees.

Colorado is surely the best place to go for the autumn vacation.

FREIGHT MEN WANT CONFERENCE

IF REQUEST IS REFUSED BY RAILWAY COMPANIES OF CHICAGO.

General Strike of Freight Handlers May Result—General News of the Railway World.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Freight handlers sent a request to 22 railroads for a conference with the company's managers by 10 a. m. Wednesday, at which it is proposed to submit demands for a wage increase of approximately 10 per cent. If the request is refused it is the plan of the labor leaders to submit to a referendum vote immediately the question of calling a general strike of union freight handlers.

Railway Held Responsible.
Norfolk, Va., Sept. 12.—Juries of inquest from Norfolk city and Norfolk county which investigated the wreck of the Kinston-Greenville excursion train on the Atlantic Coast Line railway, which went through an open draw over the western branch of the Elizabeth river, near Bruce's Station, Aug. 17, when 17 persons lost their lives and 50 or more were injured, returned verdicts holding the railroad company responsible because of its alleged negligence in trusting the train to Engineer Reig, who is said to have been unfamiliar with that division of the road.

The Divine Engineer.
This world is like a train of cars.
And God as engineer;
And we are only passengers
Who ride away from here.

The big red sun is the light is front;
The green moon at the rear;
The twinkling stars are signals true
To show the track is clear.

The years—they are the whirling wheels
That speed along the track.
And often, oh how often we
Have wished they would turn back.

This world is like a train of cars
That goes away from here;
And we are only passengers
Who trust the Engineer.

—CHARLES T. GREENE.

B. & O. Appropriations.
Following closely upon the declaration of the increased dividend rate from four to five per cent. per annum, the Baltimore and Ohio announces an additional appropriation of $7,000,000, making a total of between $17,000,000 and $18,000,000 thus far appropriated for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of the property.

It has been officially announced that the gross income of the company for the year ending June 30 reached $67,500,000, an increase over the former record year of the company of $2,500,000. Including receipts from other sources, the general income for the company for the year will reach $70,000,000.

The work of renewing the company's road extends from the eastern terminals at Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore to Chicago, and when completed the road will be double-tracked through from the east to Chicago.

Six million dollars have already been expended on the divisions in and about Pittsburgh, including the Pittsburgh and New Castle divisions and an additional $1,250,000 has been appropriated for the work. Baltimore and the Baltimore division get an additional $2,250,000 and the remainder of the appropriation is distributed along the line.

New Wharton Switch.

B. & O. Superintendent H. A. Rudolph, of this city, has received from H. B. Dick, of Newark, division engineer, a blue print of the new Wharton switch which the B. & O. is installing at turnouts. This switch is entirely different from the usual railroad switch, inasmuch as instead of the usual broken rail device the turn is made by means of an elevated turnout which catches the flange of the wheel and throws the car onto the siding. The Wharton switch is put on the high side of the curve except at places where there is a high speed as in this case there might be danger of the flange not catching the elevation. The switch is of immense advantage as it leaves the main track intact when the switch is closed. Supervisor Rudolph is advised to inform Mr. Dick, the division engineer, any places on his division where this switch is needed. It is possible that one of the new switches will be put in at the Linseed oil works, but for the present they will not be generally installed in Mansfield. There is already a Wharton derail working in use at the B. & O. siding near Spring Mill street, but Wharton switches are something new on this part of the B. & O. road, the company having not recently decided to install them.—Mansfield Shield.

Order of Freight Cars.
General Superintendent of Motive Power Crawford, of the Pennsylvania lines has been in Philadelphia, where he was in consultation with Second Vice President Pugh, of the Pennsylvania railroad company, with regard to the 15,000 new freight cars that are to be purchased. President Cassatt has issued radical instructions with regard to the freight rolling stock, these being no less than that the Pennsylvania, after next year, use 50-ton freight cars exclusively and these all of steel or steel underframes.

Air Brake Tests.
The air brake tests which have been conducted by the Pennsylvania company for some time past at their yards at Scully, Pa., are now concluded. The test clearly demonstrated that the requirement of the Inter-State Commerce Commission that fifty per cent of the cars in a freight train be equipped with air brakes is not sufficient to secure the safe operation of a road. The tests made by the Pennsylvania at Scully, Pa., demonstrated that the safest method to operate a freight train was with all of the cars equipped with air brakes and orders have been given by the system both east and west of Pittsburgh that all cars which are not so equipped be sent to the shops as soon as possible.

MRS. HENDRICKS DIES AT AGE OF NINETY

Widow of Jacob Hendricks Baptized by Alexander Campbell—Leaves Five Great Grand Children.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hendricks, aged 90 years, widow of the late Jacob Hendricks, died last night at her home north of Newark after an illness which lasted about a week. Her death was due to a complication of diseases incident to old age. Mrs. Hendricks had been in ill health for several months but began to fail rapidly about a week ago until death relieved her suffering.

Mrs. Hendricks had been a resident of Licking county for nearly twenty-five years. She was born in Brooke county, West Virginia, where she resided for many years. While there, she united with the Disciple church, being baptized by Alexander Campbell, the founder of that faith in this country.

The aged woman has a long line of descendants, having five children living, eight grand children and five great-grandchildren. The surviving children are: George Hendricks of Newark, James Hendricks, who lived with his mother, Mrs. William Russell, New York City, Mrs. T. A. Hill and Mrs. Joseph Hankinson of Licking county.

The funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from Mrs. Hendricks' late home, Rev. H. Newton Miller, pastor of the Fourth Street Church of Christ will officiate. Interment will be made in Maple Grove cemetery, near Vanatta.

J. F. SEWARD DIES VERY SUDDENLY

BROTHER OF JUDGE C. W. SEWARD PASSES AWAY AT PERRYTON.

Had Not Been Feeling Well but Arose Tuesday Morning as Usual—Sat Down and Died.

Perryton, Sept. 12.—Mr. J. F. Seward, one of the most prominent and highly respected residents of Licking county, died at his home in this place very suddenly about 6 o'clock this morning. He had not been feeling well for several days, but nothing serious was considered the matter with him. He slept well last night and arose at an early hour this morning and went into the kitchen where he seated himself in a chair. He had been seated but a few moments when his head fell forward on his breast, and died immediately. A physician was summoned, who pronounced his death to be due to heart trouble. The deceased was aged 59 years, and is survived by his widow and two sons and one daughter, being Ira of Springfield, and William of Perryton, and Mr. Haue Scholer also of Perryton. Besides these he is survived by three brothers, Judge C. W. Seward, Watt Seward and J. A. Seward, all of Newark. At his writing no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

C. E. REYNOLDS HAS PASSED AWAY

NOTED NEWARK ORGANIST DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Harrison Wild Said of Him: "He Is The Finest Ecclesiastical Organist Chicago Ever Had."

Mr. Charles E. Reynolds, so well known to Newark, as a musician of rare genius, succumbed Monday night at midnight to the fatal Bright's disease.

Mr. Reynolds has held the post of organist and choirmaster of Trinity Episcopal church for nine years, and has become identified with all that is excellent in organ-playing and choral work.

Born in 1850 on January 3d, at Toronto, Canada, the son of a prominent business man, he was destined for a commercial career, but his bent showing itself at a very early age, he decided to make music his profession. He held a post of organist of the Methodist church of Toronto at sixteen years, was tendered the chair in music at Belleville College some time later. He studied organ under the famous English organist, John Cartu and piano under Herve D. Wilkins. He was organist of St. Paul's and later St. Peter's, Rochester, New York, and the Jewish Tabernacle at the same time. He married in Rochester and moved to Chicago, where he followed Dudley Buck at Old Trinity. Then he went to the Epiphany and later was well known for eleven years at the famous old "St. James." Chicago, where he will yet be remembered by many people. Later he accepted the dual post of organist and choir master of the Ascension. During this entire period he also played at the Sinai Temple where Rabbi Adler officiated. He was conspicuous in all the great musical events of Chicago, also presiding at such times as Tomlin's concert at the Auditorium organ.

Five years later, his health having broken, he came to Newark for the less arduous duties of a smaller parish, since when he has been a most familiar figure, loved and admired by all. He was the friend of such men as Clarence Eddy and Frederick Archer. A pastmaster in the art of cathedral organ playing, absolutely faultless in his tone coloring.

Harrison Wild said of him: "He is the finest ecclesiastical organist Chicago ever had."

He leaves five children, Mrs. Gertrude Isaacs of Chicago, Blanche, Herve, Will and Frank of Newark. It is with great sorrow of a common loss that the town has sustained with the bereaved family that will make the gifted, genial Mr. Reynolds long to be remembered by all who knew him and his work, and leave a place hard to fill. He was a staunch friend and malice was not in him—the most modest and lovable of men.

THE SILENT WORKER.

Remarkable Value in Labor of $10,000 Wholly Invested.

In these days of great financial transactions, when men are striving for power and riches, the effect of the aggression of wealth as well as the wisdom of thrift and prudence are shown in the following article by Theodore Dreiser, who points out the power and equivalent in labor of $10,000 wisely invested:

Herein lies the beauty of wealth: If you have the opportunity by means of labor or inheritance or any other hook or crook to secure the sum of $10,000 you then have the equivalent of what, if properly invested, is equal to one man's labor every day in the year. Sundays included, for all the time that you shall hold the sum mentioned. Think of it! One man working for you day after day, in rain or shine, whether there be good times or bad, through sickness and in health—one man working all the time! If you were super-sensitive and owned a slave such conscientious, unvarying labor on the part of any one might be disturbing to you—your material or spiritual wants. If he were ill you might, perhaps, almost be compelled to be sorry. If he were pale or run down in health you could not help but feel that he might need a rest in his labor. If he were oppressed by debt, wrought upon by the illness or wants of others, you would be apt to take cognizance in some small way, but here by the good fortune of inheritance or the sense of prudence you are saved all this.

The man whom your money represents is never ill. He is not, so far as you can know or see, possessed of a family. He is not a creature of ambitions, not a person of feelings. He desires drag at his heartstrings as they do at yours. He is a strange creature, built of some odd material that never wears. His hands are quick, his feet willing, his mind incapable of worry or care. All day he works and all year—year after year—and though you be taking your leisure at the shore or in the city, though you rest and never think he is busy—this slave of yours—laboring, laboring, so long as you own the $10,000 he represents. Seasons come and seasons go. Your own life becomes a weariness to you. Work loses its charm, but he, this creature whom your $10,000 represents, is ever plodding. Though you eat, drink and be merry, you need have no fear for him. He cannot rest. He cannot die.—Theodore Dreiser in Tom Watson's Magazine for September.

BOYS WITH SIGHT OF OWLS.

Two Connecticut Lads, Blind in Daylight, See Well at Night.

On the east side of Hartford, Conn., live two brothers, who during daylight are nearly as blind as owls, but at night can see like cats, says a Hartford dispatch to the New York World. When the sun is shining Hyman and Abe White, one six and a half years old and his brother three years younger, seek the darkest and shadiest places they can find to avoid the glare of light that makes vision practically impossible for them. When the shades of night fall they are ready for anything, and in a condition of darkness that prevents their little friends from seeing anything around them Hyman and Abe are perfectly at home.

The father of the two boys named is a dealer in bottles, and he has had the eyes of his two sons examined by experts in Hartford and New York. Nothing that has been done has helped their condition. The boys are not depressed in spirits by their affliction. They are sorry they are unable to play with other boys in the bright daylight, but they remain cheerful and are usually able to find some companions in their shady and sheltered retreats in riverside park.

The darker and more shaded the spot the better it suits Hyman and Abe, and they are glad when the sun goes down and permits them to see clearly the objects around them. Their little eyes are peculiarly sensitive to light.

The neighbors say the White boys will have to be taught in the night schools, as they will be unable to study during the day time.

The Kind of Girl to Marry.

Max O'Reil, the French humorist, interviewed, says a Paris letter, recently described the perfect wife as follows: "Marry a woman smaller than yourself. Do not marry a woman whose laugh is forced and does not spring from the heart, but marry a woman who enjoys a joke and looks on the bright side of everything. Marry a girl who is a bit of a philosopher. If you take a girl to the theater and on hearing there are no seats in the stalls or circle she gently exclaims, 'Never mind, let us go into the gallery.' Marry her. It will be easy to live with a girl willing to sit even on back benches with her husband. Do not marry a girl who has the fast ways of what is called smart society. If you go to pay a visit and must wait half an hour while she finishes her toilet do not marry her. But if she comes to you immediately, her hair put up in a bun, but neatly and simply dressed, she is a girl of common sense. Marry her, especially if she is not too proud in her excuses for appearing in negligee. Marry a girl who cares a lot for her father, who takes an interest in seeing that his study is in order, who likes to sit on his knee and who calls him all sorts of loving and infantile names."

Signs of Fall.

When the wind comes kind of dreary And the leaves begin to fall And the crickets chirp at night To the bellfellow's twilight call.

There's a sign that summer's over, And a sign that autumn's here, And the cool of the evening breeze And the glow of the moon's beam.

PRESIDENT TO SEND ORR LETTER

NEWARK BOY CONGRATULATED BY GOVERNOR HERRICK ON MONDAY.

Clarence Orr Goes to Visit His Parents—Will Accept Good Position With Firearms Co.

Clarence E. Orr, the Newark boy, sergeant in Company G, Fourth Ohio National Guard, who won first honors in the individual shooting at Sea Girt, N. J., last week, capturing the President's Prize, arrived home Monday night after a cordial reception by Governor Herrick Monday. Tuesday morning Sergeant Orr left for Jacksontown to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Orr, for a week, after which he will probably accept a position with one of the companies manufacturing firearms. Two of them have already offered him a position to demonstrate the use of their goods.

Sergeant Orr made the remarkable score of 294 out of a possible 325 points, shooting at 200, 300, 600, 800 and 1000 yards, slow fire, 200 yards rapid fire and in one skirmish run. Corporal Wayne Proye of Ohio, was only one point behind Orr.

Mr. Orr was literally covered with medals when he got home, having been successful in number of events at Sea Girt. He was greatly pleased with the reception accorded him by Governor Herrick Monday and is awaiting with pleasure the receipt of an autograph letter from President Roosevelt which is to accompany the President's medal.

Mr. Orr, who is a modest unassuming young man, popular with the members of his company, takes his honors gracefully.

Woes of an Editor.

(Knoes Noster (Mo.) Gem.)
Every man who ever ran a newspaper or tried to run one has butted up against the sorcerer who can tell the editor how to run the editor's business. He can tell the editor exactly what he should write whom to roast, etc. If the editor asks him to furnish the roast over his own signature he objects because it would get him into trouble. If the editor asks him for positive proof of the subject-matter of his roast he hasn't it. If the editor asks him to go along and help him the proof he pulls back. Gossip is cheap, but the newspaper man who publishes gossip will sooner or later come to grief.

WHAT with his trip to the Philippines, Hawaii, Japan and China and his attempts to settle the Chinese boycott, William Howard Taft has been much in the public eye of late. Taft is such a large man, physically and otherwise, that it is hard for him to keep out of the public eye. Tom Reed once said that no gentleman weighs over 200 pounds. The secretary of war has revised this and says that no gentleman weighs over 300 pounds. Yet there are those who assert that the genial peace man at the head of the war portfolio tips the scales at 320. It is an old story, but a good one, that while governor general of the Philippines Taft wired

Yarns: Taft has a friend who is a farmer near a Maine prohibition town. A stranger once went into the farmer's house, says the secretary, and asked for a glass of milk. The farmer filled a glass with whiskey, milk and sugar. The stranger, after draining the cup, handed it back and remarked:

"My Lord, what a cow!"

Too Big For Ordinary Chairs.

When made secretary of war, Taft could not find a chair or desk large enough for him. Nor could any be found in Washington. He had to have some made especially for his size. Even the stairway leading up to his office had to be overhauled and a new balustrade erected. In the cabinet ed the big man he could not conceal his emotion. A year later he himself attended the dinner and feelingly referred to the episode and the cheer he had felt because his old friends had not forgotten him. Then, as if moved by a common impulse, every man present roared out: "Confound you, Bill! Taft, forgetten you! Why, we love you!"

After leaving college Taft was a reporter on the Cincinnati papers, at the same time taking a course in a law school. A particularly scurrilous article appeared in a disreputable local paper reflecting on his father. Whereupon the young man so soundly whipped the editor that the publication of the sheet was suspended. The episode made "Big Bill" the hero of the hour in Cincinnati and was said to be the start of his phenomenally successful career. It was at about this time that another incident occurred which illustrates the quality of the man.

Poor Company Better Than None.

One day when driving near Cincinnati Mr. Taft was asked by a pedestrian the way to a certain village. Taft told him, said he was going in the desired direction and offered the stranger a ride. The stranger climbed into the carriage, with the churlish remark that poor company was better than none. During the ride he was unsociable, haughty and unbecomingly. How about that branch road I was to take? he asked at length. "Oh," said Taft, "we passed that six miles back." "Why didn't you tell me?" asked the stranger in anger. "Because I didn't want to lose your society," was Taft's reply. "Poor company, you know, is better than none."

It must not be imagined, however, that Judge Taft is only a man of humor. As all life thrives in the sunshine, so all the virtues are fostered by optimism. The fact that a man is a good fellow does not argue that he is nothing more. Taft is much more. He is one of the hardest workers in public life. He has large patience and tact. He despises affectation and false dignity. He likes genuine things.

Learned Filipino Dances and Customs.

His life ambition was to be on the supreme bench. This he sacrificed because President McKinley convinced him that duty called him to the Philippines. There the keynote of his policy was "the Philippines for the Filipinos." He made many enemies among the whites by that course, but he carried it forward through dark days to success. He abolished the social color line in the islands. He learned the native dances and customs, so that he could enter into their life. He kept on with his work at the expense of health. The love which that people have recently shown him is the most eloquent testimonial to the triumph of his policy.

Secretary Taft was born Sept. 15, 1857, and comes of a distinguished family. His father was Grant's attorney general and secretary of war, and one of his brothers is editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star. The adage that few public officials die and none resign does not apply to Taft. He has many resignations and dedications to his credit. He has resigned at least nine times, but generally to accept higher positions, and has declined an appointment to the United States supreme bench and if rumor is to be credited

EXACTING QUARANTINE SYSTEM.

At One Point a Shipment of Carbolic Acid From New Orleans Was Returned, With Thanks—How a Drummer From Fever Stricken City Paid Dearly For a Joke.

"A northerner can no more understand the southern feeling against yellow fever than he can comprehend the real southern idea of the negro," declared a prominent Alabamian the other morning to a New York Tribune special correspondent who had just arrived at Mobile, Ala., from New Orleans on his way to New Orleans.

This statement was a prelude to a comprehensive defense of the quarantines—shotgun and otherwise—established by Alabama, Mississippi and outlying parishes of Louisiana against New Orleans, a quarantine so exacting that at one point a shipment of carbolic acid from the fever stricken city was returned with thanks.

"We've had our doses of yellow jack," continued the southerner. "We've seen half the population of many a prosperous place stricken down. Our cemeteries are full of gravestones made necessary by this yellow death—all this before the doctors worked out the mosquito theory. We know that under present methods of treatment the disease is not as deadly as it was, but we are taking no chances. Afraid of it? Certainly we are afraid of it, and not ashamed of being afraid, either."

Two cities of the south join in laughing at the fright and quarantine—New Orleans, where the epidemic started, and Atlanta, which insists on keeping its gates open to all who care to come. New Orleans would be in a bad way if it were not for the liberal spirit of Atlanta. It would be impossible to get to any points in the north without putting in from six to ten days in a tight detention camp in Mississippi or Alabama if it was not possible to run tightly closed cars through these states into Georgia. Running the shotgun gaitlet in the through cars is bad enough in the semitropical weather which prevails, but the detention camps, according to all accounts, are infinitely worse.

In traveling south the first indications one has that yellow fever is raging on the gulf is at Mount Airie, a summer resort in Georgia, two hours' run north of Atlanta. Here some 250 well known citizens of New Orleans are waiting for frost or the government surgeons to free their home city of fever. In and around Atlanta one finds between 4,000 and 5,000 refugees. The big hotels are filled to the roofs, and many have found boarding places in private families.

Atlanta has never suffered a yellow fever epidemic. The health authorities of the city say that it would be impossible for the disease to spread there and that any cases which might come from New Orleans—the trip takes but fourteen hours—could be handled without danger to the rest of the population. There have been several rumors that fever cases existed there. One persistent one of a few days ago placed the number of cases at twelve, and for a time even one of the doctors credited it. It proved to be false, and the Tribune correspondent in visiting Atlanta recently was assured that there was not a case in the city.

"We do not fear yellow fever in Atlanta," said Mayor James G. Woodward, "and we have no idea of quarantining New Orleans or any other city. If infected persons come here and the fever develops we are prepared to give them the best possible treatment in a hospital that is ready for use. There is not the slightest chance that the disease will spread."

Dr. C. P. Wertenbaker, surgeon of the United States health and marine hospital service, confirmed Mayor Woodward's statement that there was no fever in Atlanta. He was sent to that city from Havana to issue health certificates, which are necessary to all who wish to travel in the south. After asking many questions and examining witnesses or documentary evidence Dr. Wertenbaker issues a certificate that "the bearer has produced satisfactory evidence that he has not been in any territory infected by yellow fever within the last ten days."

As a means of identification the applicant presses his thumb on an inked pad and then makes an impression on the certificate. Woe is the portion of the man who uses his neighbor's certificate and cannot show the proper thumb mark. Two well known Georgians, one the brother, the other the law partner, of members of the state legislature, started to Savannah the other day on passes which the politicians had secured from the railway company. They neglected to take out thumb mark certificates, and a Savannah health officer put them off at Burroughs, Ga., a station a few miles away from Savannah. This made the mayor of Burroughs angry and frightened his constituents. "Are we going to be the dumping place for yellow fever suspects?" they asked. The answer was a shot in quarantine against the world. Savannah included, and to-day Burroughs is a town which all who like may leave, but none may enter. Even those who are bound to New Orleans have to get certificates from Dr. Wertenbaker or be halted off at the first detention camp. The correspondent had to get on his spike of the fact that he was from New York and had never been in a yellow fever belt in his life.

The applicant who followed him at the marine hospital office was a New Orleans business man. He came to Atlanta in fourteen hours to transact some business, which took him half a day. He wished to return to New Orleans, his stepmother and his arsenic tablets. He was forced to stay in Atlanta seven days until he could qualify for a certificate.

All tickets out of Atlanta are marked on the back, "Subject to quarantine regulations," and the train is not half an hour out of the new Union station before a big man in a slouch hat, grim and determined looking, enters the car. From theapel of his coat dangles a dirty yellow ribbon on which is printed, "Alabama health officer." His hand is bandaged from a wound which, he explains, he received in a scrap with a "damned stuck up Georgian who 'lowed he wouldn't answer no questions."

"Where is the Georgian?" asked the correspondent.

"We all is just detaining him down the line a bit, and he sure is nursing something worse than yellow fever." He asked his questions, about a dozen of them, regarding the passenger's movements for the last ten days. He then reminded you that it was $500 fine and a year in prison if you lied to him and swore you on an invisible stack of Bibles. A drummer who came up from New Orleans a few days ago tried to beat his way into an Alabama territory in which he had customers.

"You been in the fever district in ten days?" drawled the health officer.

"No, sir," answered the drummer.

"Let's see your order book," was the next demand.

This would have been a "giveaway," but the drummer's wit came to the rescue.

"I sell steam engines," he said, "and don't carry an order book."

"You swear you ain't been in Louisiana in ten days?" demanded the official.

"Never been there in my life," answered the drummer.

The health officer passed on, but before he was out of the car the drummer, who was greatly tickled over his feat of swearing, called to a friend:

"This quarantine is a cinch. I was in New Orleans three days ago."

The health officer left the car, but returned by the front platform. With him was another rawboned Alabamian.

"So you all was in Orleans three days ago?"

The drummer turned pale, but managed to falter:

"Oh, that was just a jolly! I was joking the boys."

"You'll find yellow fever a mighty poor thing to joke about," said the officer, and, turning to his companion, he added, "Bill, you get out your gun, and if this here fellow moves you just shoot him."

Bill pulled a 44 with as much ease as one would take out a handkerchief. The drummer kept his seat. In three or four minutes a file of four of the shotgun guards marched in and carried the drummer out. He was to be kept in the local detention camp ten days under guard, and then probably the local judge would fine him $100 for lying to a health officer.

Only one train runs to New Orleans these days. It stops at a point a little below Mobile, where the passengers are turned out of their Pullmans and put into what the railway men call the "skeeter" train because it runs back and forth over the four and one-half hour stretch between New Orleans and Mobile bay.

EFFECT OF A PROPHECY.

Families Leave Marion, Ind., Because a Woman Predicted Disaster. Hundreds of families are leaving Marion, Ind., on account of a prediction by Mrs. Viola Powell that the city is soon to be visited by a disaster, the full extent of which she does not know or exactly in what form it is to come, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Some time ago, however, she prophesied that all evil places would be uprooted and that much of the worst element of the city would be rooted. Since that time forty of the 108 saloons and all the pool rooms have been closed and all gamblers have been run out of the place. The fulfillment of this prediction has been so remarkable that there is implicit reliance in what she says, and many are fleeing from the wrath to come.

"I do not know in what form this judgment will come, nor at exactly what time," she said recently, "but I have seen the signs in the heavens in the form of stars that shone like electric lights, and the day of the visitation is not far off. People should prepare themselves now."

Never Heard of Howells.

An amusing little incident was recently related to William Dean Howells, says Harper's Literary Digest. It seems that a reader of many novels from the west went into a New York bookstore and asked a bright looking clerk for Howells' last book. "Yes, we have it," replied the clerk and handed the customer a book by H. G. Wells. "No," said the westerner, "not Wells—Howells—W. D. Howells." The clerk looked nonplussed and going to the back of the store conferred with another intelligent looking spectacled clerk. Both were apparently at a loss, and the second young man came forward and said, "Will you please tell me if he has ever written any other books?" "About sixty," retorted the westerner, and with a sad smile for the passing of the bookshop, he departed to seek "Miss Della's" inspiration in the better informed department store.

We Lead the World as Motor Makers. Statistics are now brought forward to show that America has supplanted France as the leader in the motor car industry, says the Boston Herald. Not only does the United States supply 65 per cent of the cars now in this country, but American manufacturers are now shipping cars all over the world. So we forge ahead as a world power.

Unfortunate For Spoonall.

"Want to marry my daughter, do you?" said the financial magnate, wheeling around in his chair.

"Who said so?" gasped the young man.

"Are you not young Spoonall?"

"No, sir, my name's Simpson. I've come to bring back a suit of clothes we ironed for you this morning."

"Oh, I see. Put the bundle on that chair. Good afternoon."

The magnate looked at his watch and turned to his desk.

"Presently the door opened again. 'Well, what is it now?' he asked. 'Do you want the pay for ironing those clothes?'"

"No, sir," said an embarrassed voice behind him. "I'm Mr. Spoonall. I came here according to appointment."

"Five minutes late, young man. Good afternoon."—Chicago Tribune.

Not to Be Repeated.

"Yes," the old Indian fighter was saying, "the whole secret of success against the red varmints was just to profit by experience. The Sioux done something to me once that they could never do again."

"What was that?" inquired the interested youth.

"They scalped me."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Abdominal?

Mrs. Brown—What's the matter with your husband? Some stomach trouble, isn't it?

Mrs. Malaprop—Oh, worse'n that! The doctor didn't specify. He just said it was some "severe abdominal complaint."—Philadelphia Press.

A Mean Advantage.

"He's about the meanest white man I ever met."

"At any rate he's successful. He has taken advantage of his opportunities."

"Ah, his opportunities were small, no doubt; another proof of his meanness."—Boston Herald.

SECRETARY TAFT'S SMILE.

to Secretary Root that he had ridden to the top of a mountain near Manila and had been wonderfully benefited by the trip, to which Root cabied back: "Glad to hear you are better. How is the horse?"

When President Roosevelt was killing bears in Texas and Colorado he left Taft holding down three jobs—secretary of war, acting secretary of state and acting president. In Rooseveltian phraseology, he "left Taft sitting on the lid." The threefold duty did not seem to worry the big Ohio man. Nothing ever does. But some one should have inquired, "How is the lid?"

Smiles From Ear to Ear.

One of the biggest things about Secretary Taft is his smile. It literally spreads from ear to ear. A still bigger thing, however, is his laugh. It is frequently heard, carries far and is so infectious that it spreads good nature all around the neighborhood. While not as good a story teller as Lincoln, the Buckeye statesman is quite as appreciative of a joke and enjoys his own so much that every one else must enjoy them also.

Here is one of the stories Secretary Taft told in a lecture that contains a bit of his optimistic philosophy:

"People—the poorest and most wretched people—are happier than we think, as a rule. To eat when one is hungry, to sleep well and comfortably, to warm oneself after a day's work in the cold—are not they who have these things often happy enough?"

"No matter how wretched we are, we hold that our lot is not a bad one, and we pity some one worse off. In a storm at sea one night two sailors, their clothing frozen to their bodies, hung to a rope as the waves washed over them.

"I say, Bill," says one. "Wot is it, mate?" says the other. "Think of the poor fellows caught at a picnic in such weather as this."

At one time Taft, then governor of the Philippines, was giving testimony before a senate committee. After one of the hearings a senator remarked: "Well, governor, there's one thing to be said in favor of our holding these islands, and that is that you've enough unchanged Filipinos over there to turn out sufficient hemp to string up all the rascals in the world."

"True," responded Governor Taft. "I hadn't thought of that before." Then he added laughingly, "And your remark throws a flood of light upon the secret of the strenuous opposition from certain quarters in this country against the free importation of hemp from Manila into the United States."

Here is another of the big Buckeye's room he had the same difficulty with the chairs. After trying them all he gave up. "I believe," said Taft smilingly, "that these chairs are a trifle low. I don't like them."

"Well, governor," replied Secretary Root quick as a flash, remembering that this was his last cabinet meeting, "there are ways by which people can be got out of them."

Most Popular in College.

At Yale Taft was known as "Big Bill" and "Pock Bill," the first of which appellations has clung to him through life. He was an athlete and especially an expert in class races and sports. Notwithstanding this he stood high in his studies and carried off the second honor in a class of 120. He was one of the most popular men in college, a fact that has been amply attested in later life. At the time of the annual class dinner Taft was elected in 1879 to be president of the class. He held the position for one year. A college friend was quoted by him as saying: "The future will have a word to say about the matter, and that mysterious divinity does unexpected things."

FREIGHT MEN WANT CONFERENCE

IF REQUEST IS REFUSED BY RAILWAY COMPANIES OF CHICAGO.

General Strike of Freight Handlers May Result—General News of the Railway World.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Freight handlers sent a request to 22 railroads for a conference with the company's managers by 10 a. m. Wednesday, at which it is proposed to submit demands for a wage increase of approximately 10 per cent. If the request is refused it is the plan of the labor leaders to submit to a referendum vote immediately the question of calling a general strike of union freight handlers.

Railway Held Responsible.
Norfolk, Va., Sept. 12.—Juries of inquest from Norfolk city and Norfolk county which investigated the wreck of the Kingston-Greenville excursion train on the Atlantic Coast Line railway, which went through an open draw over the western branch of the Elizabeth river, near Bruce's Station, Aug. 17, when 17 persons lost their lives and 50 or more were injured, returned verdicts holding the railroad company responsible because of its alleged negligence in trusting the train to Engineer Reig, who is said to have been unfamiliar with that division of the road.

The Divine Engineer.
This world is like a train of cars.
And God as engineer;
And we are only passengers
Who ride away from here.

The big red sun is the light is front;
The green moon at the rear;
The twinkling stars are signals true
To show the track is clear.

The years—they are the whirling wheels
That speed along the track.
And often, oh how often we
Have wished they would turn back.

This world is like a train of cars
That goes away from here;
And we are only passengers
Who trust the Engineer.

B. & O. Appropriations.
Following closely upon the declaration of the increased dividend rate from four to five per cent. per annum, the Baltimore and Ohio announces an additional appropriation of $7,000,000, making a total of between $17,000,000 and $18,000,000 thus far appropriated for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of the property.

It has been officially announced that the gross income of the company for the year ending June 30 reached $67,500,000, an increase over the former record year of the company of $2,500,000. Including receipts from other sources, the general income for the company for the year will reach $70,000,000.

The work of renewing the company's road extends from the eastern terminals at Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore to Chicago, and when completed the road will be double-tracked through from the east to Chicago.

Six million dollars have already been expended on the divisions in and about Pittsburgh, including the Pittsburgh and New Castle divisions and an additional $1,250,000 has been appropriated for the work. Baltimore and the Baltimore division get an additional $2,250,000 and the remainder of the appropriation is distributed along the line.

New Wharton Switch.
B. & O. Superintendent H. A. Rudolph, of this city, has received from H. B. Dick, of Newark, division engineer, a blue print of the new Wharton switch which the B. & O. is installing at turnouts. This switch is entirely different from the usual railroad switch, inasmuch as instead of the usual broken rail device the turn is made by means of an elevated turnout which catches the flange of the wheel and throws the car onto the siding. The Wharton switch is put on the high side of the curve except at places where there is a high speed as in this case there might be danger of the flange not catching the elevation. The switch is of immense advantage as it leaves the main track intact when the switch is closed. Supervisor Rudolph is advised to inform Mr. Dick, the division engineer, any places on his division where this switch is needed. It is possible that one of the new switches will be put in at the Linseed oil works, but for the present they will not be generally installed in Mansfield. There is already a Wharton derail working in use at the B. & O. siding near Spring Mill street, but Wharton switches are something new on this part of the B. & O. road, the company having but recently decided to install them.—Mansfield Shield.

Order of Freight Cars.
General Superintendent of Motive Power Crawford of the Pennsylvania lines has been in Philadelphia, where he was in consultation with Second Vice President Pugh, of the Pennsylvania railroad company, with regard to the 15,000 new freight cars that are to be purchased. President Cassatt has issued radical instructions with regard to the freight rolling stock, these being no less than that the Pennsylvania, after next year, use 50-ton freight cars exclusively and these all of steel or steel underframes.

Air Brake Tests.
The air brake tests which have been conducted by the Pennsylvania company for some time past at their yards at Scully, Pa., are now concluded. The test clearly demonstrated that the requirement of the Inter-State Commerce Commission that fifty per cent of the cars in a freight train be equipped with air brakes is not sufficient to secure the safe operation of a road. The tests made by the Pennsylvania at Scully, Pa., demonstrated that the safest method to operate a freight train was with all of the cars equipped with air brakes and orders have been given by the system both east and west of Pittsburgh that all cars which are not so equipped be sent to the shops as soon as possible.

The Colonel's Waterloo.
Colonel John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo from Liver and Kidney trouble. In a recent letter, he says: "I was nearly dead of these complaints, and although I tried my family doctor, he did me no good; so I got a 50c bottle of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold, and guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Kidney Disease, by Hall's Drug Store, at 50c a bottle.

MRS. HENDRICKS DIES AT AGE OF NINETY

Widow of Jacob Hendricks Baptized by Alexander Campbell—Leaves Five Great Grand Children.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hendricks, aged 90 years, widow of the late Jacob Hendricks, died last night at her home north of Newark after an illness which lasted about a week. Her death was due to a complication of diseases incident to old age. Mrs. Hendricks had been in ill health for several months but began to fail rapidly about a week ago until death relieved her suffering.

Mrs. Hendricks had been a resident of Licking county for nearly twenty-five years. She was born in Brooke county, West Virginia, where she resided for many years. While there, she united with the Disciple church, being baptized by Alexander Campbell, the founder of that faith in this country.

The aged woman has a long line of descendants, having five children living, eight grand children and five great-grandchildren. The surviving children are: George Hendricks, of Newark, James Hendricks, who lived with his mother, Mrs. William Russell, New York City, Mrs. T. A. Hill and Mrs. Joseph Hankinson of Licking county.

The funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from Mrs. Hendricks' late home. Rev. H. Newton Miller, pastor of the Fourth Street Church of Christ will officiate. Interment will be made in Maple Grove cemetery, near Vanatta.

The Sting of a Bee.
Bellefontaine, O., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Frank Hess is in a serious condition with blood poisoning as a result of a bee sting.

In the course of a trial of a case in a London court recently it came out that imported canned fruit is often stored in London warehouses for ten years.

Over 30,000 postage stamps were used in the making of a dress for an American lady which she wore at a ball at Bermuda a short time ago.

J. F. SEWARD DIES VERY SUDDENLY

BROTHER OF JUDGE C. W. SEWARD PASSES AWAY AT PERRYTON.

Had Not Been Feeling Well but Arose Tuesday Morning as Usual—Saw Down and Died.

Perryton, Sept. 12.—Mr. J. F. Seward, one of the most prominent and highly respected residents of Licking county, died at his home in this place very suddenly about 6 o'clock this morning. He had not been feeling well for several days, but nothing serious was considered the matter with him. He slept well last night and arose at an early hour this morning and went into the kitchen where he seated himself in a chair. He had been seated but a few moments when his head fell forward on his breast, and died immediately. A physician was summoned, who pronounced his death to be due to heart trouble. The deceased was aged 59 years, and is survived by his widow and two sons and one daughter, being Ira of Springfield, and William of Perryton, and Mr. Haue Schoeler also of Perryton. Besides these he is survived by three brothers, Judge C. W. Seward, Watt Seward and J. A. Seward, all of Newark. At his writing no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

C. E. REYNOLDS HAS PASSED AWAY

NOTED NEWARK ORGANIST DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Harrison Wild Said of Him: "He Is The Finest Ecclesiastical Organist Chicago Ever Had."

Mr. Charles E. Reynolds, so well known to Newark, as a musician of rare genius, succumbed Monday night at midnight to the fatal Bright's disease.

Mr. Reynolds has held the post of organist and choirmaster of Trinity Episcopal church for nine years, and has become identified with all that is excellent in organ-playing and choral work.

Born in 1850 on January 3d, at Toronto, Canada, the son of a prominent business man, he was destined for a commercial career, but his bent showing itself at a very early age, he decided to make music his profession. He held a post of organist of the Methodist church of Toronto at sixteen years, was tendered the chair in music at Belleville College some time later. He studied organ under the famous English organist, John Cartu and piano under Herve D. Wilkins. He was organist of St. Paul's and later St. Peter's, Rochester, New York, and the Jewish Tabernacle at the same time. He married in Rochester and moved to Chicago, where he followed Dudley Back at Old Trinity. Then he went to the Epiphany and later was well known for eleven years at the famous old "St. James" Chicago, where he will yet be remembered by many people. Later he accepted the dual post of organist and choir master of the Ascension. During this entire period he also played at the Sinai Temple where Rabbi Adler officiated. He was conspicuous in all the great musical events of Chicago, also presiding at such times as Tomlin's concert at the Auditorium organ.

Five years later, his health having broken, he came to Newark for the less arduous duties of a smaller parish, since when he has been a most familiar figure, loved and admired by all. He was the friend of such men as Clarence Eddy and Frederick Archer. A pastmaster in the art of cathedral organ playing, absolutely faultless in his tone coloring.

Harrison Wild said of him: "He is the finest ecclesiastical organist Chicago ever had!"

He leaves five children, Mrs. Gertrude Isaacs of Chicago, Blanche, Herve, Will and Frank of Newark. It is with great sorrow of a common loss that the town has sustained with the bereaved family that will make the gifted, genial Mr. Reynolds long to be remembered by all who knew him and his work, and leave a place hard to fill. He was a staunch friend and malice was not in him—the most modest and lovable of men.

Signs of Fall.
When a wind comes and of dreary rain, and the leaves begin to fall,
And the sun is cold and chilly,
To the thrush's plaintive call,
Then I know that summer's over,
That the cool and restful autumn
And the golden days are coming.

THE SILENT WORKER.

Remarkable Value in Labor of $10,000 Wholly Invested.

In these days of great financial transactions, when men are striving for power and riches, the effect of the aggression of wealth as well as the wisdom of thrift and prudence are shown in the following article by Theodore Dreiser, who points out the power and equivalent in labor of $10,000 wisely invested:

Herein lies the beauty of wealth: If you have the opportunity by means of labor or inheritance or any other hook or crook to secure the sum of $10,000 you then have the equivalent of what, if properly invested, is equal to one man's labor every day in the year. Smaller included, for all the time that you shall hold the sum mentioned. Think of it! One man working for you day after day, in rain or shine, whether there be good times or bad, through sickness and in health—one man working all the time! If you were super-sensitive and owned a slave such conscientious, unvarying labor on the part of any one might be disturbing to you—you could not be entirely indifferent to his material or spiritual wants. If he were ill you might, perhaps, almost be compelled to be sorry. If he were pale or run down in health you could not help but feel that he might need a rest in his labor. If he were oppressed by debt, wrought upon by the illness or wants of others, you would be apt to take cognizance in some small way, but here by the good fortune of inheritance or the sense of prudence you are saved all this.

The man whom your money represents is never ill. He is not, so far as you can know or see, possessed of a family. He is not a creature of ambitions, not a person of feelings. No desires drag at his heartstrings as they do at yours. He is a strange creature, built of some odd material that never wears. His hands are quick, his feet willing, his mind incapable of worry or care. All day he works and all year—year after year—and, though you are taking your leisure at the shore or in the city, though you rest and never think, he is busy—this slave of yours—laboring, laboring, so long as you own the $10,000 he represents. Seasons come and seasons go. Your own life becomes a weariness to you. Work loses its charm, but he, this creature whom your $10,000 represents, is ever plodding. Though you eat, drink and be merry, you need have no fear for him. He cannot rest. He cannot die.—Theodore Dreiser in Tom Watson's Magazine for September.

BOYS WITH SIGHT OF OWLS.

Two Connecticut Lads, Blind In Daylight, See Well at Night.

On the east side of Hartford, Conn., live two brothers, who during daylight are nearly as blind as owls, but at night can see like cats, says a Hartford dispatch to the New York World. When the sun is shining Hyman and Abe White, one six and a half years and his brother three years younger, seek the darkest and shadiest places they can find to avoid the glare of light that makes vision practically impossible for them. When the shades of night fall they are ready for anything, and in a condition of darkness that prevents their little friends from seeing anything around them Hyman and Abe are perfectly at home.

The father of the two boys named is a dealer in bottles, and he has had the eyes of his two sons examined by experts in Hartford and New York. Nothing that has been done has helped their condition. The boys are not depressed in spirits by their affliction. They are sorry they are unable to play with other boys in the bright daylight, but they remain cheerful and are usually able to find some companions in their shady and sheltered retreats in riverside park.

The darker and more shaded the spot the better it suits Hyman and Abe, and they are glad when the sun goes down and permits them to see clearly the objects around them. Their little eyes are peculiarly sensitive to light.

The neighbors say the White boys will have to be taught in the night schools, as they will be unable to study during the daytime.

The Kind of Girl to Marry.
Max O'Rell, the French humorist, interviewed, says a Paris letter, recently described the perfect wife as follows: "Marry a woman smaller than yourself. Do not marry a woman whose laugh is forced and does not spring from the heart, but marry a woman who enjoys a joke and looks on the bright side of everything. Marry a girl who is a bit of a philosopher. If you take a girl to the theater and on hearing there are no seats in the stalls or circle she gaily exclaims, 'Never mind, let us go into the gallery.' marry her. It will be easy to live with a girl willing to sit even on back benches with her husband. Do not marry a girl who has the fast ways of what is called smart society. If you go to pay a visit and must wait half an hour while she finishes her toilet do not marry her. But if she comes to you immediately, her hair put up in a hurry, but neatly and simply dressed, she is a girl of common sense. Marry her, especially if she is not too proud in her excuses for appearing in negligee. Marry a girl who cares a lot for her father, who takes an interest in seeing that his study is in order, who likes to sit on his knee and who calls him all sorts of loving and intimate names."

PRESIDENT TO SEND ORR LETTER

NEWARK BOY CONGRATULATED BY GOVERNOR HERRICK ON MONDAY.

Clarence Orr Goes to Visit His Parents—Will Accept Good Position With Firearms Co.

Clarence E. Orr, the Newark boy, sergeant in Company G, Fourth Ohio National Guard, who won first honors in the individual shooting at Sea Girt, N. J., last week, capturing the President's Prize, arrived home Monday night after a cordial reception by Governor Herrick Monday. Tuesday morning Sergeant Orr left for Jackstown to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Orr, for a week, after which he will probably accept a position with one of the companies manufacturing firearms. Two of them have already offered him a position to demonstrate the use of their goods.

Sergeant Orr made the remarkable score of 294 out of a possible 325 points, shooting at 200, 300, 600, 800 and 1000 yards, slow fire, 200 yards rapid fire and in one skirmish run. Corporal Wayne Proye of Ohio, was only one point behind Orr.

Mr. Orr was literally covered with medals when he got home, having been successful in number of events at Sea Girt. He was greatly pleased with the reception accorded him by Governor Herrick Monday and is awaiting with pleasure the receipt of an autograph letter from President Roosevelt which is to accompany the President's medal.

Mr. Orr, who is a modest unassuming young man, popular with the members of his company, takes his honors gracefully.

VICTORIOUS TEAM HAS RETURNED

CLARENCE ORR AND OTHER CRACK SHOTS ENTERTAINED BY GOVERNOR HERRICK.

No Team Has Even Before Taken So Large a Total of Prizes in National Shoot.

Columbus, Sept. 12.—Ohio's victorious rifle team returned yesterday from Sea Girt covered with honors and renown. Ohio marksmen conspicuously distinguished themselves.

The team was received on its return by Governor Herrick, who congratulated the crack shots on the honor they had conferred on the state. The governor entertained the team at lunch at the Neil.

Thirty-seven teams contested the national match. These teams represented the whole country from Hawaii to Maine, from Michigan to Texas and from Washington to Florida.

No state team at this or any previous shoot cleaned up as large a total of prizes as the Ohio team.

Ohio beat every other state in all the contests except the national match. In the national match, Ohio beat every state team except New York. Ohio beat New York on slow fire, but was outscored by New York on rapid fire and skirmish fire.

This was the first year Ohio ever shot rapid fire and skirmish, while New York has been firing for three years. At that, Ohio was beaten only 29 points on rapid fire and 70 points on skirmish.

In the president's match, which was won by Sergeant Orr of Newark, members of the Ohio team took five of the ten places.

Woes of an Editor.
(Knos Noster (Mo.) Gem.)

Every man who ever ran a newspaper or tried to run one has battled against the sorcerer who can tell the editor how to run the editor's business. He can tell the editor exactly what he should write whom to roast, etc. If the editor asks him to furnish the roast over his own signature he objects because it would get him into trouble. If the editor asks him for positive proof of the subject-matter of his roast he hasn't it. If the editor asks him to go along and help hunt the proof he pulls back. Go-sip is cheap, but the newspaper man who publishes gossip will sooner or later come to grief.

WHAT with his trip to the Philippines, Hawaii, Japan and China and his attempts to settle the Chinese boycott, William Howard Taft has been in the public eye of late. Taft is such a large man, physically and otherwise, that it is hard for him to keep out of the public eye. Tom Reed once said that no gentleman weighs over 200 pounds. The secretary of war has revised this and says that no gentleman weighs over 300 pounds. Yet there are those who assert that the genial peace man at the head of the war portfolio tips the scales at 320. It is an old story, but a good one, that while governor general of the Philippines Taft wired

Yarns: Taft has a friend who is a farmer near a Maine prohibition town. A stranger once went into the farmer's house, says the secretary, and asked for a glass of milk. The farmer filled a glass with whisky, milk and sugar. The stranger, after drinking the cup, handed it back and remarked:

"My Lord, what a cow!"

Too Big For Ordinary Chairs.

When made secretary of war, Taft could not find a chair or desk large enough for him. Nor could any be found in Washington. He had to have some made especially for his size. Even the stairway leading up to his office had to be overhauled and a new balustrade erected. In the cabinet ed the big man he could not conceal his emotion. A year later he himself attended the dinner and feelingly referred to the episode and the cheer he had felt because his old friends had not forgotten him. Then, as if moved by a common impulse, every man present roared out: "Confound you, Bill Taft, forgotten you! Why, we love you."

After leaving college Taft was a reporter on one of the Cincinnati papers, at the same time taking a course in a law school. A particularly scurrilous article appeared in a disreputable local paper reflecting on his father. Whereupon the young man so soundly whipped the editor that the publication of the sheet was suspended. The episode made "Big Bill" the hero of the hour in Cincinnati and was said to be the start of his phenomenally successful career. It was at about this time that another incident occurred which illustrates the quality of the man.

Poor Company Better Than None.

One day when driving near Cincinnati Mr. Taft was asked by a pedestrian the way to a certain village. Taft told him, said he was going in the desired direction and offered the stranger a ride. The stranger climbed into the carriage, with the childish remark that poor company was better than none. During the ride he was "unobscure, haughty and ungenial." "How about that bunch road I was to take?" he asked at length. "Oh," said Taft, "we passed that six miles back." "Why didn't you tell me?" asked the stranger in anger. "Because I didn't want to lose your society," was Taft's reply. "Poor company, you know, is better than none."

It must not be imagined, however, that Judge Taft is only a man of humor. As all life thrives in the sunshine, so all the virtues are fostered by optimism. The fact that a man is a good fellow does not argue that he is nothing more. Taft is much more. He is one of the largest workers in public life. He has large patience and tact. He despises affectation and false dignity. He likes genuine things.

Learned Filipino Dances and Customs.

His life ambition was to be on the supreme bench. This he sacrificed because President McKinley convinced him that duty called him to the Philippines. There the keynote of his policy was "the Philippines for the Filipinos." He made many enemies among the whites by that course, but he carried it forward through dark days to success. He abolished the social color line in the islands. He learned the native dances and customs, so that he could enter into their life. He kept on with his work at the expense of health. The love which that people have recently shown him is the most eloquent testimonial to the triumph of his policy.

Secretary Taft was born Sept. 15, 1857, and comes of a distinguished family. His father was Grant's attorney general and secretary of war, and one of his brothers is editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star. The adage that few public officials die and none resign does not apply to Taft. He has many resignations and declinations to his credit. He has resigned at least nine times, but generally to accept higher positions, and has declined an appointment to the United States supreme bench and if rumor is to be credited

IN THE FEVER BELT.

Graphic Pen Pictures of Yellow Jack's Territory.

EXACTING QUARANTINE SYSTEM.

At One Point a Shipment of Carbolic Acid From New Orleans Was Returned, With Thanks—How a Drummer From Fever Stricken City Paid Debit For a Joke.

"A northerner can no more understand the southern feeling against yellow fever than he can comprehend the real southern idea of the negro," declared a prominent Alabamian the other morning to a New York Tribune special correspondent who had just arrived at Mobile, Ala., from New Orleans on his way to New Orleans.

This statement was a prelude to a comprehensive defense of the quarantine—shotgun and otherwise—established by Alabama, Mississippi and other parishes of Louisiana so exacting that at one point a shipment of carbolic acid from the fever stricken city was returned with thanks.

"We've had our doses of yellow jack," continued the southerner. "We've seen half the population of many a prosperous place stricken down. Our cemeteries are full of gravestones made necessary by this yellow death—all this before the doctors worked out the mosquito theory. We know that under present methods of treatment the disease is not as deadly as it was, but we are taking no chances. Afraid of it? Certainly we are afraid of it, and not ashamed of being afraid, either."

Two cities of the south join in laughing at the fright and quarantine—New Orleans, where the epidemic started, and Atlanta, which insists on keeping its gates open to all who care to come. New Orleans would be in a bad way if it were not for the liberal spirit of Atlanta. It would be impossible to get to any points in the north without putting in from six to ten days in a hot detention camp in Mississippi or Alabama if it was not possible to turn tightly closed cars through these states into Georgia. Running the shotgun gantlet in the through cars is bad enough in the semitropical weather which prevails, but the detention camps, according to all accounts, are infinitely worse.

In traveling south the first indications on which yellow fever is raging on the Gulf at Mount Arie, a summer resort in Georgia, two hours' run north of Atlanta. Here some 250 well known citizens of New Orleans are waiting for frost or their home city of fever. In and around Atlanta one finds between 4,000 and 5,000 refugees. The big hotels are filled to the roofs, and many have found boarding places in private families.

Atlanta has never suffered a yellow fever epidemic. The health authorities of the city say that it would be impossible for the disease to spread there and that any cases which might come from New Orleans—the trip takes but fourteen hours—could be handled without danger to the rest of the population. There have been several rumors that fever cases existed there. One persistent one of a few days ago placed the number of cases at twelve, and for a time even one of the doctors credited it. It proved to be false, and the Tribune assured in visiting Atlanta recently was confident that there was not a case in the city.

"We do not fear yellow fever in Atlanta," said Mayor James G. Woodward, "and we have no idea of quarantining New Orleans or any other city. If infected persons come here and the fever develops we are prepared to give them the best possible treatment in a hospital that is ready for use. There is not the slightest chance that the disease will spread."

Dr. C. P. Wertenbaker, surgeon of the United States health and marine hospital service, confirmed Mayor Woodward's statement that there was no fever in Atlanta. He was sent to that city from Havana to issue health certificates, which are necessary to all who wish to travel in the south. After asking many questions and examining witnesses or documentary evidence Dr. Wertenbaker issues a certificate that "the bearer has produced satisfactory evidence that he has not been in any territory infected by yellow fever within the last ten days."

As a means of identification the applicant presses his thumb on an ink pad and then makes an impression on the certificate. Voe is the portion of the man who uses his neighbor's certificate and cannot show the proper thumb mark. Two well known Georgians, one the brother, the other the law partner, of members of the state legislature, started to Savannah the other day on passes which the politicians had secured from the railway company. They neglected to take out thumb mark certificates, and a Savannah health officer put them off at Burroughs, Ga., a station a few miles away from Savannah. This made the mayor of Burroughs angry and frightened his constituents. "Are we going to be the dumping place for yellow fever suspects?" they asked. The answer was a shaven head included, and today Burroughs is a town which all who like may leave, but none may enter.

President Roosevelt once said of Taft that he combined the qualities of a president and a chief justice. One of these exalted honors awaits him, his friends all believe. He himself would prefer the bench. He would choose for Tim the White House. The future will have a word to say about the matter, and that mysterious divinity does unexpected things.

J. A. DWIGHTON.

Atlanta in fourteen hours to transact some business, which took him half a day. He wished to return to New Orleans, its stevedores and its arsenals. He was forced to stay in Atlanta seven days until he could qualify for a certificate.

All tickets out of Atlanta are marked on the back, "Subject to quarantine regulations," and the train is not half an hour out of the new Union station before a big man in a slouch hat, grim and determined looking, enters the car. From the lapel of his coat dangles a dirty yellow ribbon on which is printed, "Alabama health officer." His hand is bandaged from a wound which, he explains, he received in a scrap with a "d— stuck up Georgian who loved he wouldn't answer no questions."

"Where is the Georgian?" asked the correspondent.

"We all are just detailing him down the line a bit, and he sure is nursing something worse than yellow fever."

He asked his questions, about a dozen of them, regarding the passenger's movements for the last ten days. He then reminded you that it was $300 fine and a year in prison if you lied to him and swore you on an invisible stack of Bibles. A drummer who came up from New Orleans a few days ago tried to beat his way into an Alabama territory in which he had customers.

"You been in the fever district in ten days?" drawled the health officer.

"No, sir," answered the drummer.

"Let's see your order book," was the next demand.

"This would have been a 'giveaway,' but the drummer's wit came to the rescue."

"I sell steam engines," he said, "and don't carry an order book."

"You swear you ain't been in Louisiana in ten days?" demanded the official.

"Never been there in my life," answered the drummer.

The health officer passed on, but before he was out of the car the drummer, who was greatly tickled over his feat of swearing, called to a friend:

"This quarantine is a cinch. I was in New Orleans three days ago."

The health officer left the car, but returned by the front platform. With him was another rawboned Alabamian.

"So you all was in Orleans three days ago?"

The drummer turned pale, but managed to falter:

"Oh, that was just a jolly! I was joking the boys."

"You'll find joke about," said the officer, and, turning to his companion, he added, "Bill, you get out your gun, and if this here feller moves you just shoot him."

Bill pulled a 44 with as much ease as one would take out a handkerchief. The drummer kept his seat. In three or four minutes a file of four of the shotgun guards marched in and carried the drummer out. He was to be kept in the local detention camp ten days under guard, and then probably the local judge would fine him $100 for lying to a health officer.

Only one train runs to New Orleans these days. It stops at a point a little below Mobile, where the passengers are turned out of their Pullmans and put into what the railway men call the "skeeter" train because it runs back and forth over the four and one-half hour stretch between New Orleans and Mobile bay.

EFFECT OF A PROPHECY.

Families Leave Marion, Ind., Because a Woman Predicted Disaster.

Hundreds of families are leaving Marion, Ind., on account of a prediction by Mrs. Viola Powell that the city is soon to be visited by a disaster, the full extent of which she does not know or exactly in what form it is to come, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Some time ago, however, she prophesied that all evil places would be uprooted and that much of the worst element of the city would be scattered. Since that time forty of the 108 saloons and all the pool rooms have been closed and all gamblers have been run out of the place. The fulfillment of this prediction has been so remarkable that there is implicit reliance in what she says, and many are fleeing from the wrath to come.

"I do not know in what form this judgment will come, nor at exactly what time," she said recently, "but I have seen the signs in the heavens in the form of stars that shone like electric lights, and the day of the visitation is not far off. People should prepare themselves now."

Never Heard of Howells.

An amusing little incident was recently related to William Dean Howells, says Harper's Literary Gossip.

It seems that a reader of many novels from the west went into a New York bookstore and asked a bright looking clerk for Howells' last book.

"No," replied the clerk and handed the customer a westerner. "Not Wells."

"No," said the westerner, "not Wells—Howells—W. D. Howells." The clerk looked nonplussed and going to the back of the store conferred with another intelligent looking spectacled clerk. Both were apparently at a loss, and the second young man came forward and said, "Will you please tell me if he has ever written any other book?"

"About sixty," replied the westerner, and with a sad smile for the passing of the book-shop, he departed to seek "Miss Bella's inspiration" in the better informed department store.

We Lead the World as Motor Makers.

Statistics are now brought forward to show that America has supplanted France as the leader in the motor car industry, says the Boston Herald.

Not only does the United States supply 95 per cent of the cars now in this country, but American manufacturers are now shipping cars all over the world. So we lead ahead as a world power.

Unfortunate For Spoonall.

"Want to marry my daughter, do you?" said the financial magnate, wheeling around in his chair.

"Who would I marry?" asked the young man.

"Are you not young Spoonall?"

"No, sir; my name's Spoonall. I've come to bring back a suit of clothes we ironed for you this morning."

"Oh, I see. Put the bundle on that chair. Good afternoon."

The magnate looked at his watch and turned to his desk.

Presently the door opened again.

"Well, what is it now?" he asked.

"Do you want the pay for ironing those clothes?"

"No, sir," said an embarrassed voice behind him. "I'm Mr. Spoonall, I came here according to appointment."

"Five minutes late, young man. Good afternoon."—Chicago Tribune.

Not To Be Repeated.

"Yes," the old Indian fighter was saying, "the whole secret of success against the red varmints wuz just to profit by experience. The Sioux done somethin' to me once that they could never do again."

"What was that?" inquired the interested youth.

"They scalped me."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Abdominal?

Miss Brown—What's the matter with your husband? Some stomach trouble, isn't it?

Mrs. Malaprop—Oh, worse'n that! The doctor didn't see it. He just said it was some "severe abdominal complaint."—Philadelphia Press.

A Mean Advantage.

"He's about the meanest white man I ever met."

"At any rate he's successful. He has taken advantage of his opportunities."

"Ah, his opportunities were small, no doubt; another proof of his meanness."—Boston Herald.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY LOG

Frank H. McMillen Fatally Hurt While Unloading Car of Lumber at Fee Mill in West Newark Late Monday Afternoon--Every Log But One Had Been Removed from Car Without Accident.

Frank H. McMillen, aged 42, an employee of the Fee Hardwood Works, was fatally injured about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, while at work at the plant in West Newark.

Mr. McMillen was assisting in unloading a car load of logs, which is done with a cable, to which a cant hook is attached. Every log but one had been successfully unloaded, the hook was attached to this one and the signal given. McMillen was in the act of removing a standard from the side of the car when the log "kicked back," knocking him from the car. The hold of the hook slipped and the log fell upon the prostrate man, crushing both legs and the pelvic bones.

A call was sent for the Bowers & Criss Bros. ambulance which took the injured man to his home, 155 Maholm street, where at 7:30 o'clock death relieved his suffering. Drs. J. G. Bower and D. M. Smith did all they could to relieve the injured man, but at once pronounced his hurts fatal.

The deceased leaves a wife but no children. Two brothers, John A. and W. A., and a sister, Miss Lizzie McMillen all of Newark, also survive.

The funeral will take place from the home at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. L. S. Boyce conducting the services. Interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

BOARD OF TRADE COMMITTEE ACTS

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS MEMBERS MEET WITH BOARD OF PUBLIC SERVICE.

Adopted Resolution Advising Board to Proceed With the Water Works Construction.

The municipal committee of the Board of Trade at the call of the chairman, W. H. Smith, again met with the Board of Public Service on Monday afternoon for the purpose of considering the proposition of advising the Service Board to go ahead with the construction of a new water works system, with the $300,000 now at their disposal, according to plans made by Engineer L. K. Davis.

Mr. Davis was present and explained his plans. He said that the idea was to use the $300,000 to construct a system designed only for fire protection, and then with an additional bond issue of $200,000, put in a filtration plant and make other extensions so that the plant could also after this was done, furnish water for domestic consumption.

Under the law, the construction of a filtration plant was necessary before water could be furnished for domestic consumption.

Several others beside the committee were present by invitation, the following gentlemen being there: Messrs. John S. Fulton, C. C. Metz, W. L. Prout, George B. Sprague, J. J. Carroll, James Linehan, F. G. Warden, F. M. Black, W. H. Smith, H. S. Fleek, W. C. Miller, and George Fromholtz.

Mr. Davis was asked a number of questions, nearly every one there taking part in the discussion. The committee then went into executive session and after several hours discussion adopted a report advising that the Service Board take steps at once toward the construction of the plant as outlined by Engineer Davis' revised plans. This report is printed in full in the council proceedings in another column.

HAIR NOT COMBED FOR SIX MONTHS

THIS IS THE UNUSUAL CHARGE MADE IN FRED HOOVER'S DIVORCE SUIT.

Defendant Files Cross-Petition Asking For Legal Separation from His Wife.

In the case of Florence Hoover against her husband, Frederick H. Hoover, suit for divorce commenced in the Probate court, the defendant has filed his answer. He denies that his wife has always conducted herself as a good and faithful wife. On the contrary, he says she has always been cross and ill natured toward him; that she continually treated him in a tantalizing way, using coarse language in the presence of her children. He says his wife has failed to take proper care of the children, permitting them to run at large and frequently putting them to bed with their clothes on. He says his wife never cared for her home as a housewife should. He says that she permitted herself to go so unclean as to become a nuisance, and at one time failed to comb her hair for six months, when it became so tangled that she was compelled to have it cut off. He also charges his wife with abandoning him. He asks that his wife's petition be dismissed and that he be granted the custody and control of the children. Smythe & Smythe, attorneys for the defendant.

Adjudged Insane. Frank B. Avery, the young Granville township farmer, who was arrested on a charge of lunacy on Monday, had his hearing before the probate court, and was adjudged insane. On examination it was found that his nerves were in a high state of tension; his mind very much affected; that he had threatened to shoot his father and that he had otherwise acted very strangely at his home. The young man is about 24 years old.

Gurney vs. Gurney. An answer has been filed in the case of Paul P. Gurney vs. Heber M. Gurney, by G. C. Daugherty, attorney. The defendant asks the court for a decree quieting in him the title to the land described in the petition, and that plaintiff's petition be dismissed. The defendant says the plaintiff made an agreement to convey the real estate to the defendant and David Gurney, but has failed to and neglected to do so.

Will Probated. The will of Joseph P. Brooks, deceased, of Liberty township, has been admitted to probate.

Bottle Cases Settled.

The bottle cases of the Licking County Creamery against Groves, Keller and others have been settled in Squire Atcherley's court. By the terms of the settlement, the bottles belonging to the Creamery company are returned to it, and an agreement entered into whereby bottles coming into the possession of any of the parties other than the owner are to be returned by such party to the owner.

As it is almost inevitable that bottles belonging to one milk dealer will get into the possession of another dealer, it is expected that this agreement will result in the return to the owner of all bottles so marked as to be identified as his.

AMUSEMENTS

That clever singer and jolly German dialect comedian—who opens at the Auditorium Thursday evening, tells an excellent story on the little girl who plays the gypsy child in his new rollicking comedy "The German Gypsy."

During his recent engagement in New York he was called in front of the curtain and presented with a handsome gold mounted cane by a number of admirers—and when he had expressed his thanks in a suitable manner and retired to the inner recesses of the stage door, he was confronted by the little tot with a demand to show the gift he had received. Mr. Wilson held it up and said "There it is, a beautiful cane." The child gazed at it in contempt and blurted out "That ain't no cane." "What is it then?" questioned Wilson, without hesitancy the little tot replied "It's an umbrella without any clothes." Seats on sale Wednesday.

SLAVE OF THE MILL.

The great stock exchange scene at the climax of the first act in "A Slave of the Mill" is not excelled even by the similar scenes produced in "The Pit" by Winton Lackaye.
